RUSSIA STIRS UP TROUBLES FOR BALKANS

COUP TO CONTROL LITTLE NATIONS IS FEARED

BY TOM WILLIAMS
London, June 6 (AP)—A new Balkan ferment, stirred by the Hungarian coup and highlighted by the arrest of the chief opposition leader in Bulgaria, roused fears among diplomats here today that a Communist campaign was in full swing to consolidate control in southeastern Europe in direct answer to President Truman's doctrine.

Political police were on the march in Budapest, where an associated Press dispatch reported the Hungarian people live "in days and nights of suppressed terror," again listening to forbidden radio broadcasts. Vienna dispatches said the Hungarian border guard had been increased by thousands to prevent the escape of refugees.

Troops On Border
Speculation on more Communist moves to strengthen their position before Soviet occupation troops are obliged by the peace treaties to withdraw from former Axis satellite nations was aroused by the departure of Premier Petru Groza of Romania and a group of party leaders for Yugoslavia and Bulgaria. Groza made a "good will" trip to Hungary only a few weeks before Premier Ferenc Nagy was toppled in the Hungarian coup. His visit to Marshal Tito, the Soviet Union's strongest supporter in the Balkans, stirred a belief that negotiations on a Moscow-inspired Balkan federation might be underway.

Reports reaching Turkey, always sensitive to any Soviet move, said the Russians had concentrated at least 100,000 troops from east and west in Bessarabia, former Black Sea province of Romania, and that so-called labor battalions were being sent from Hungary and Romania into Bulgaria. These reports said it was assumed that battalions were to build roads and railroads near the border of Greece.

Democracy Crushed
One outspoken diplomatic source in Istanbul was quoted as saying "if Russia gets away with this thing in Hungary then it means Russia stands safe and supreme behind the iron curtain and hopes of democracy there have crumbled for at least a decade."

Other information reaching Turkey said there had been 15,000 arrests of non-Communists in Romania in recent days.

The arrest of Nikolai Petkov, opposition Agrarian, by Communist Georgi Dimitrov's Bulgarian government in connection with alleged conspiracies to overthrow the regime by force, appeared to be in the same mold as the accusation that result in the resignation of the Hungarian premier. While the state department in Washington drafted a strong note to Russia charging Soviet interference in Hungarian affairs and threatening to take the case to the United Nations, the No. 1 Hungarian Communist, Matyas Rakosi, was disclosed to have boasted that the "iron fisted Community party" had seized the government "before the United States could rub its eyes."

AIRMEN SAVED IN JUNGLE HELL

Nicaraguan Wilderness Gives Up Survivors Of Burned Bomber

West Palm Beach, Fla., June 6 (AP)—The green hell of a Nicaraguan jungle was being forced today to give up the last of 15 airmen it snatched from a burning bomber more than two weeks ago.

It required only minutes for the men to plunge into the dense fastness on May 21, as they flew from the Canal Zone toward Kelly Field, Texas. Intensive rescue efforts got under way quickly, but 17 days later two are still the prisoners of the tangle of vines and creepers.

The Army at Morrison Field here said one of the men yet to be rescued is Master Sgt. Richard A. MacReady of Franklin, Ky., who definitely is alive. The name of the other was withheld because "we don't know if he is dead or alive," the 62nd Air Rescue Squadron reported. Ground troops are battling towards them.

Of the 13 men previously rescued, one died as he was placed aboard a helicopter after 14 days in the jungle. He was listed as Sgt. David J. Wylie of Chicago.

"This has been one of the Army's most difficult rescue efforts since the war," said Morrison Field officers.

Conquering the jungle required thousands of miles of flying, aerial photographing of a large area in search of clues, the parachuting of a doctor, supplies, instructions and work crews into the jungle, hacking out a clearing for helicopter land, and tedious chopping of paths through heavy growth toward survivors.

Ground troops were highly praised for their part in the rescue.

Homes Demolished In Champaign, Ill., By Small Tornado

Champaign, Ill., June 6 (AP)—A small tornado struck a subdivision of new homes on the southwest side of this city at 4:30 p. m. (CDT) today, demolishing eight houses and damaging at least 25 others, but there were no fatalities or injuries.

Parts of some homes were carried at least two miles by the storm. There was no official estimate of property damage, but an insurance agent said it probably would run into several hundred thousand dollars.

Champaign is the site of the University of Illinois, but the campus was outside the area hit by the twister, although debris showered over temporary housing units occupied by university students.

Champaign residents saw the tornado coming and had time in most cases to take refuge in their cellars.

Housewife's Apron Prevents Wreck Of Burlington Train

Swan, Ia., June 6 (AP)—Burlington Railroad officials told today how a housewife waving an apron probably prevented a passenger train carrying 22 passengers from plowing into a track wash-out near here. Conductor E. F. Martz, Ottumwa, said Mrs. Emma Bowers flagged down the train with her apron during Wednesday night's hard rain storm here.

Swan is 20 miles southeast of Des Moines.

"We might have been on it before we saw it," said Martz, "it was a mighty fine thing for the lady to do."

Mrs. Bowers is a farm wife who lives near the track southeast of Swan.

Railway Cashier Found Dead In Munising; Gash In Head Is Only Clue

Munising—John Joseph Hawpost; John Carstensen, state trooper stationed here; Urban Trombley, Munising chief of police; Arthur Moore, Alger county sheriff, and Joseph Lambert, Munising coroner.

A coroner's jury began a review of the case at 3 p. m. today in view of "peculiar circumstances" surrounding the death, police said. Doctors Robert C. Harsh, Marquette, and G. B. Wickstrom, Munising, are conducting a post mortem, but up to a late hour Friday night, no report had been made of their findings.

Mr. Hawkins, a native of Munising, had been an employee of the L. S. & I. Railway for 30 years. For many years, he served as a foreman at the freight depot and was promoted to cashier two years ago. He was a member of the Munising volunteer fire department.

He leaves three cousins, Mrs. Walter Ludholtz, Negaunee; Mrs. Frank Bonneville, Eagle Mills, and Mrs. Gladys Olmstead, Munising, and a niece, Mrs. Albert Ryder, of Munising.

The body was taken to Beaulieu's funeral home, where the rosary will be recited at 8 p. m. today. Funeral services will be held at 9 p. m. today in Sacred Heart church, with the Rev. G. F. Harrington officiating. Burial will be made in Maple Grove cemetery.

FLOOD MENACES PARTS OF IOWA
Residents Flee To High Ground In Des Moines River Valley

Des Moines, June 6 (AP)—Several thousand residents of three Iowa towns along the rapidly rising Des Moines River fled to higher ground today while the Army and Red Cross sent help into the flooded southeastern area.

The 1,000 residents of Eddyville, Ia., abandoned their homes when a railroad dike broke. All of the residents of the small community of Red Rock left their homes, several families being evacuated by boat.

In Ottumwa, an industrial city of over 30,000, more than 4,000 persons were removed from low areas.

Army engineers at Rock Island, Ill., sent rescue boats, men and sandbags into the flooded area in response to requests from Ottumwa. The Red Cross sent eight rescue workers into the state from elsewhere to coordinate assistance work and aid other local representatives.

High water marks of as long ago as 1903 were threatened as the Des Moines river spread out over farm lands, washed out railroad track and flooded highways. The weather bureau forecast "locally heavy rains" tonight and tomorrow in the flooded Des Moines river valley.

The weather bureau said the river at Eddyville, approximately 75 miles southeast of Des Moines, would crest at nearly 27 feet late tonight, 12 feet above bankful. The river was at 24.5 feet at noon.

Chris Den Hartog, Eddyville mayor, said all residents were moved to the school building on high ground or to homes nearby that were above the lowlands. The town siren sounded the warnings.

Chicago Shopper's Baby Stolen; Found Near Loop Station

Chicago, June 6 (AP)—A three-month old baby girl was abducted on a South side street today while her mother was shopping in a department store but police said the baby was found alive and apparently unharmed several hours later in the near Loop station of the Northwestern railroad.

Police said they believed the infant was taken by a woman who fled from the vicinity on a street car.

STATE SOLONS LEAVE DEFICIT AT 12 MILLION

CLOCK STOPPED AS LAWMAKERS CLOSE 1947 SESSION

Lansing, June 7 (Saturday)—(AP) Locked in a fight over finances, the Michigan legislature labored into the early hours today after stopping the clock in order to stay in session beyond midnight.

A $12,000,000 deficit was in prospect as the lawmakers, who stopped the clock at 11:45 p. m., struggled to wind up the 1947 regular session. They were expected to stay in session until 2 or 3 a. m.

An originally estimated $7,000,000 deficit grew by another $5,000,000. The liquor revenue bill providing $2,000,000 was expected to die in committee. Meanwhile the House refused to give immediate effect to the tangible tax bill diverting $3,000,000 to the state coffers.

There was a bitter last minute fight over school appropriations. House-Senate conferees on the school aid bill dispute admitted their inability at 11:15 p. m. to reach agreement and a new conferee committee was in the making in an attempt to break the deadlock.

Schools May Lose
The dispute was over a House determination to include a "single state-wide school district" in the $51,000,000 school aid bill, a means to charge more than $9,000,000 of general educational grants to the schools and to reduce the amount coming to the public schools from the sales tax diversion amendment.

Senator Harry F. Hittle, East Lansing Republican, intimated that the Senate must agree to the House single district plan or adjourn without giving the schools due appropriation.

In that event, a continuing appropriation from the current fiscal year would go to the school districts and, counting primary school interest money and the schools' one-sixth of the sales tax, the local districts would receive a maximum of $85,000,000.

Under the amendment, as presently interpreted, the school districts were entitled to at least $95,000,000.

Bills Piled Up
Senator Edgar F. Down, Pleasant Ridge Republican and chairman of the Senate conferees, said that if the legislature adjourned without a new school aid appropriation, it would be subject to "a good legal battle to see what they have coming under the amendment."

Senate attorney disagreed asserting that the legislature could not be forced by the courts to act.

Down said the Senate conferees had offered a compromise by which the single district would be included and only $5,000,000 charged to it for teachers' retirement payments. The House insists, he said, on including a vocational education and other special educational grants.

In any event, it appeared the Legislature would go home leaving a deficit of around $7,000,000.

Governor Sigler, waiting for his first Legislature to adjourn, has said "some" deficit would be all right with him.

As fast as the bickering House and Senate agreed on one controversy, a new one arose and the conference committee docket still held 20 bills as the lawmakers re-

Deadly Bombs Sent To British Officials Are Caught In Mail

BY ED CREAGH

London, June 6 (AP)—Postal workers intercepted today nine more deadly "letter bombs" reportedly addressed to Prime Minister Attlee, Winston Churchill and other present and former ministers of the British cabinet.

A new bag of mail brought to 20 the number of explosive letters received here from Turin in a "murder-by-mail" campaign which the Stern gang, Jewish underground group, proclaimed as its project.

The London press named Attlee and Churchill as among the targets for the nine intercepted bombs, and said others including Deputy Prime Minister Herbert Morrison, Fuel Minister Ernest Bevin, Home Secretary Clegg, and others, had general charges of Scotland Yard and Health Minister Aneurin Bevan.

The letters were similar to those delivered earlier in the week addressed to Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, Anthony Eden, and nine other top-rank political leaders.

Knox Blocks His Own Boom In Sault Bill

Lansing, June 6 (AP)—The House today passed a Senate-approved bill for a Soo Locks centennial commission, but only after Speaker Victor A. Knox, Sault Ste. Marie Republican, had to block an attempt to use the bill to boom his candidacy as congressman from the 11th district.

Rep. Elton R. Eaton, Plymouth Republican, asked the House to insert a provision requiring that Knox be made chairman of the proposed commission.

"We have a chance to recognize a man who has been the best speaker we have ever had," said Eaton, "and who has done more for the Upper Peninsula and the state as a whole than any other recent representative."

Members pointed out that the sponsor of the bill, Senator George Gribbach, Sault Ste. Marie Republican, also a congressional candidate, would be a logical Senate choice for the chairmanship. Knox requested that Eaton withdraw his proposal and asked the members to leave any congressional aspirations out of consideration when voting on the bill.

"This bill was asked by statewide industrialists and proposes a state celebration in 1955 to mark the centennial," Knox said. "I must ask you to vote entirely on the bill's merits."

Some objection was raised, contending the celebration was a purely local affair and Rep. Louis Anderson, Northport Republican, predicted the commission "will bring back in a couple of years looking for money." Knox replied back, "I have assured him the celebration would be financed by contributions."

The House compromised by ordering that the measure be named the Gribbach-Knox bill. With House approval, the measure was sent back to the Senate for concurrence in minor amendments before going before Governor Sigler.

COLORADO TOWN HIT BY TORNADO

Storm Damages Half Of Business District, Some Residences

Julesburg, Colo., June 6 (AP)—Heavy damage was inflicted on this northeastern Colorado community today by a tornado which struck at 4:05 p. m. (CDT) today. No fatalities were reported.

W. B. Reed, telephone company manager, said that about half the buildings in the business district and some residences were damaged.

Reed said several persons suffered cuts from flying glass but there were no immediate reports of serious injuries. Reed himself and his chief operator, Inico Ingher, were cut when windows at the exchange were blown in.

Heaviest damage was to the business section.

Reed said the Union Pacific railroad yards were badly damaged and the station almost demolished. Julesburg is a division point on the main line of the Union Pacific and a one-time station of the Pony Express.

He said walls of a Safeway store, a fruit store and a furniture warehouse, all adjacent to the telephone exchange, were caved in by the storm.

Telephone company cables were broken and power lines snapped. The company was able to open three circuits to Sterling about an hour later.

Rehearing Asked By 15 States On Rail Rate Boost

Washington, June 6 (AP)—Officials of 15 states asked the supreme court today to reconsider its recent 7 to 2 decision which upheld an ICC order raising class railroad freight rates 10 per cent in the North and East.

The ICC order also calls for reduction of such rates by 10 per cent in the South and as far West as the Rockies.

Attorneys general for New York, Delaware, Indiana, Maryland, Michigan, New Jersey, Ohio, Wisconsin and Pennsylvania, and governors of the six New England states filed separate petitions urging the high tribunal to grant a rehearing of the case.

The petition by the attorneys general stated that the Supreme Court "in failing to hold that the commissions order was invalid for lack of essential preliminary findings, and in attempting to supply that lack by findings based upon its own examination of the evidence, erred and acted in conflict with long established principles laid down by its earlier decisions."

FARMER TAKES WIFE, BY MAIL

Lonely Hearts Letters Bring On Wedding At North Adams, Mass.

North Adams, Mass., June 6 (AP)—A farmer took a wife today—a bride he won through the United States mails and a crowd of 2,500 cheered "kiss her" when they met.

A thronged railroad station was journey's end for Betsy Riley of Knoxville, Tenn., widowed mother of a nine-year-old boy, and Warren E. Bounds, 31, whose love-letters lifted the loneliness from two hearts.

Struggling a car's length through the grinning mob, Bounds obeyed the cheered order again and again as soon as Betsy was in his arms.

When his lips were free he said: "I've waited fifteen years for a money like this."

Betsy, in a blue frock and a little hat with lace, captured the crowd with a soft drawl when she said: "I think it's going to work out all right."

Fifty-one minutes after her train came in Betsy became Mrs. Albert L. Fuller.

She carried the white carnations that her bridegroom brought her and the red roses which were presented her at the station by John Scarpitto of the Lions club.

Nine-year-old Billy was remembered, too, and he was busy stuffing his pockets with the candy bars the crowd showered on him.

Bounds said he first heard of Betsy five months ago when she answered a letter he wrote to a lonely hearts club in Tennessee.

There were about 29 letters between them, he said, and then came the magic loveletter in which "Betsy wrote me she was willing."

Today, between kisses, he beamed at Betsy: "Not even the president would have such a crowd."

April Flood Loss In Lansing Region Mounts To $46,812

Lansing, June 6 (AP)—Flood damage caused by the Grand and Red Cedar rivers in the Lansing area last April cost $46,812 for rehabilitation, the highest total in the state, Red Cross officials said today.

Flood damage in the Flint area, also hard hit, cost $21,000 for rehabilitation, the Red Cross said.

Flood relief workers for the Red Cross said 1,000 Lansing area families suffered losses and 219 homes were damaged. Cost of Red Cross rehabilitation work, including the repair of 174 homes, was waived by the Ingham county chapter and National Red Cross.

Mine Blast Widows Given $1,000 Each From UAW Funds

Scranton, Pa., June 6 (AP)—Eighteen widows who lost their husbands in two Pennsylvania anthracite mine explosions were presented $1,000 checks today by the United Mine Workers Union.

Drawn on the anthracite health and welfare fund, the checks were presented by UMW District President Michael J. Kosik.

The 18 were made widows by blasts in mines at Plymouth and Exeter earlier this year. Twenty-five men were killed and five widows unable to attend today's mass presentation of checks will get theirs tomorrow.

VOTE MARGIN IS ENOUGH TO NULLIFY VETO

BILL TO SHACKLE UNIONS PUT UP TO PRESIDENT

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
Washington, June 6 (AP)—A history-making bill to curb strikes and unions passed Congress tonight with a tremendous victory margin—large enough to nullify any presidential veto unless there is a change of sentiment.

By 54 to 17, the Senate approved the measure and put it up to President Truman to sign or veto in the next ten days. The House had passed it 320 to 79 two days ago.

The margin of approval on both these votes was far better than two-thirds of those voting, and that is the majority that would be required to override a presidential veto.

But opponents of the measure hope that a strong veto message by Mr. Truman might win over the votes of some who approved it originally.

Seventeen Democrats joined tonight with 37 Republicans in favor of the bill. Only two Republicans, Langer of North Dakota and Morse of Oregon, were in the "nay" list with 15 Democrats.

The bill goes far beyond the labor legislation program recommended by Mr. Truman in his state of the union message to Congress last January.

Bitterly opposed by labor union leaders, but described by its sponsors as an incentive to production and a balancing wheel for labor-management relations, the bill:

1. Permits the government to get 80-day court injunctions against "national paralysis" strikes, such as a railroad or coal mine tie-up.

2. Outlaws the closed shop, in which only union members may be hired.

3. Permits the union shop only when a majority of workers vote for it. In the union shop, non-union workers may be hired but they must join the union shortly.

4. Outlaws union-controlled health and welfare funds established since January 1, 1946.

5. Makes unions liable for unfair labor practices and subject to suit for violation of contract.

6. Outlaws jurisdictional strikes (usually called in inter-union disputes) and secondary boycotts, in which a union strikes at another employer by refusing to handle his products for its employer.

One Bond A Month Campaign Launched By Treasury Chief

Los Angeles, June 6 (AP)—Treasury Secretary Snyder today launched the new "savings bond-a-month" program with an address by transcription from the deck of the heavy cruiser Los Angeles.

Secretary Snyder said that although the United States was experiencing remarkable prosperity it has a tremendous indebtedness, and that in asking Americans to buy a bond each month the treasury was trying to secure a wider and better balanced ownership of the debt.

ESCANABA HAS LOW GAS RATES

Comparison With Five
Other U. P. Cities
Favors Users Here

A comparison of gas rates existing in Escanaba and five other Upper Peninsula communities of comparable size, made by Acting City Manager Arthur V. Aronson, shows that Escanaba consumers, both residential and commercial, are benefiting by a rate lower than that in any of the other cities.

With only one minor exception, the rate in Escanaba is far less than that existing in other cities with which a comparison was made, namely Iron Mountain, Ironwood, Marquette, Ishpeming and Negaunee.

Escanaba's gas rate for residential cooking, as approved by the council Thursday night for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1947, is $4.15 per 3000 cubic feet. The corresponding rate in other cities follows: Iron Mountain, $4.56; Ironwood, $4.22 and Marquette, Ishpeming and Negaunee, $5.13.

Marquette Next Low
For residential automatic cooking, water heating and refrigeration, the rate here is $6.50 per 6,500 cubic feet, against $6.76 in Iron Mountain, $8.48 in Ironwood and $6.90 in the three Marquette county communities.

The rate per 26,500 cubic feet in the category including automatic cooking, water heating, house heating and refrigeration here is $16.90, compared with $29.57 in Iron Mountain, $26.26 in Ironwood and $20.05 in Marquette, Ishpeming and Negaunee.

With few exceptions, the rates in Marquette, Ishpeming and Negaunee come the closest to matching Escanaba's low costs. For example, the rate per 23,500 cubic feet for the category which includes house heating, refrigeration and automatic water heating in Escanaba is $14.45, against $18.33 in these three communities, whereas the rate in Iron Mountain is $24.21 and in Ironwood, $23.86.

Commercial consumer figures show an equally advantageous rate for Escanaba users.

The rate here per 80,000 cubic feet of gas for space heating is $48.70, compared with $82.16 in Iron Mountain, $69.46 in Ironwood and $55.20 in Marquette, Ishpeming and Negaunee.

Figures For Next Year
The lone exception cited above—and that is true only in Marquette, Ishpeming and Negaunee—rests in the category of commercial cooking, automatic water heating and refrigeration, where the rate per 55,500 cubic feet in those three cities is $40.98, compared with $43.30 in Escanaba.

In Iron Mountain, the rate for the same use is $55.66 per 53,500 cubic feet and in Ironwood, $48.26.

The rate for industrial use here, on the basis of 407,000 cubic feet, is approximately the same in Marquette, Ishpeming and Negaunee, the cost here being $281.75, against $268.03 in Marquette county.

The rate for the same use in Iron Mountain is $386.65 and in Ironwood, $331.06.

Burglar Foiled At Lewis Store

Local police reported yesterday that an attempt was made Thursday night to break into the Matt Lewis store 320 Stephenson avenue, by forcing a rear door. The burglar did not succeed in entering the building although he managed to get the door partially opened, the police reported.

Patrolmen discovered the party opened door about midnight and notified Mr. Lewis, who repaired the door.

Scooter Drivers Require License, Police Announce

Persons operating motor scooters or motor-powered bicycles are required to secure a driver's license, the city police department announced yesterday.

The requirement became effective with the adoption of a new law by the Michigan legislature. The license required is the standard motor vehicle driver's license issued to automobile drivers. Thus, youngsters under 14 are ineligible for such licenses. When the new automobile license law becomes effective, the age limit will be 16 years, except in the case where parents approved the issuance of licenses to 14 and 15 year olds. In such cases, the parents will be required to assume financial responsibility for accident damages.

Henry Reiss, 78, Called By Death

Henry Reiss, 415 South 16th street, died yesterday morning at three o'clock in St. Francis hospital following a stroke he suffered a week ago.

Mr. Reiss was born January 1, 1869 in Koerich, Luxembourg, and came to Escanaba 60 years ago. He was employed by the Chicago & North Western system as a boilmaker helper, and retired in 1939. He was a member of the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers and Shipbuilders, the B of RE, and the Holy Name Society.

He is survived by Mrs. Reiss, one daughter, Mrs. Frank Beaudry of Escanaba, and eight grandchildren and one great-grandchild. The body will be in state Sunday at Alto funeral home. Funeral services will be held Monday morning at 9 o'clock in St. Joseph's church with Rev. Fr. Alphonse officiating. Burial will be in St. Joseph cemetery.

PAGEANT HEAD ARRIVES HERE

Rehearsals For Spectacle
Will Start Next Week

Robert Bancroft, veteran pageant director of the John B. Rogers Producing company, arrived in Escanaba yesterday to stage the mammoth pageant spectacle, "Hiawathaland Saga", which will be presented at the Escanaba athletic field July 3 to 6.

Mr. Bancroft arrived here from McCook, Neb., where he staged a four-day pageant for the Republican Valley Conservation association as a part of the Enders Dam dedication.

He has been with the John B. Rogers company for 18 years, except for a leave of absence during the war in which he served with the U. S. Army signal corps.

This is not Mr. Bancroft's first visit to the Upper Peninsula of Michigan. He directed successful pageants in 1934 at St. Ignace and at Mackinac Island. Other large pageants produced under his direction include the Sesqui-centennial celebration last year at Nashville, Tenn.; the Iowa Centennial at Des Moines; the Florida Golden Jubilee at St. Petersburg; and the Tercentenary celebration at Newport News, Va.

The pageant director and the promotion director of the celebration, Norman Wicks, both representatives of John B. Rogers company, met last evening with Wm. J. Duchaine, general chairman, and chairmen of the various committees of the spectacle.

Rehearsals will get under way next week.

Heart Attack Takes Life Of Mrs. Donald Zehren, 20, Garden

A heart attack which she suffered shortly after entering St. Francis hospital Friday morning for an operation, was fatal to Mrs. Donald Zehren 20, of Garden, the former Lucy Mae Spaulding. She died at 10:05 o'clock.

Mrs. Zehren was born in Garden, March 30, 1927, and was graduated from Garden high school in 1945. Her marriage to Mr. Zehren took place six months ago.

She leaves her husband, her father Alonzo Spaulding, of Garden, and four brothers, Harold, of Bay City; and Clifton, Leonard and Edward, of Garden.

The body was taken to the Alto funeral home. Arrangements for the services are incomplete.

Karas Urges New Design For Snow Removal Trucks

Studies made in the Upper Peninsula snow belt reveal the need for redesigning heavy truck equipment used for snow removal and indicates that present truck models embody many characteristics detrimental to efficient snow plowing, writes William J. Karas of Escanaba, civil engineer for the Delta county road commission.

Under the title of "Operation Snow Plow," the suggested changes in heavy truck design were contained in an article written and published in the May issue of Commercial Car Journal. The magazine describes Karas' recommendations as showing "disadvantages of present design, and practical suggestions for improvement."

The study was made over a period of 10 years by the Delta county road commission. The data gathered was the result of co-operation on the part of J. T. Sharpsteen, superintendent-engineer, and other maintenance personnel of the commission, Karas said.

Talked With Operators
"This commission operates a snow removal program which keeps 900 miles of its county road system open, in addition to 129 miles of Michigan state trunklines, plus an added service to the citizens of this county which entails snow removal on approximately 900 private driveways."

"During the collection of this data, a great deal of time was devoted to the manner in which efficiency could be improved from the standpoint of the operator, the mechanic, and the piece of equipment in general," Karas wrote. "Very close contact was maintained with both the operator and mechanics in the field and shop in order to determine just what type of 'tool' they needed to perform their assigned tasks, thereby better serving the public."

PUREBREDS SENT U. P. FARMERS

58 Dairy Animals Are Placed On Farms By Chatham Station

Marquette—Fifty-eight purebred sires and heifers have been distributed to dairy farmers in all parts of the Upper Peninsula as the fourth year of the Development Bureau's purebred sire program was successfully concluded.

The animals were taken by truck last week from the U. P. experiment station in Chatham to counties where they were to be distributed. William Lutz, dairy specialist for the Michigan State College experiment service, and Claude E. Bishop, Development Bureau representative, supervised this final phase of the program.

The sires and heifers were bought by Lutz and Bishop from production-tested herds in the Lower Peninsula, then trucked to the experiment station, where they were inspected and rested.

The purebred sire program, started by the Development Bureau in 1944, has made possible through operation of a revolving fund set up by the Bureau in co-operation with the Michigan Department of Agriculture. Under it, farmers order bulls or heifers through their county agriculture agent. They pay only $10 "down" with each order and pay the balance when the animal is delivered.

"Through this program," Bureau officials say, "we hope to step up efficiency of the Upper Peninsula dairy industry. Already, farmers who have participated report increased production as a result of using animals of production-tested ancestry."

Veterans may still reinstate lapsed G. I. insurance easily under current Veterans Administration rules.

Karas pointed out that the heavy truck of 10 or 12 tons is not an "all around," all-year truck. Their specific purpose is for snow removal and moving heavy pieces of equipment and materials, and they should be designed to fit those needs.

Cities Disadvantaged
Citing disadvantages of the present heavy truck equipment, Karas wrote that they have poor visibility because the plow is set out too far ahead of the windshield. If the truck is driven at fast speed in light snow the view ahead is "completely obliterated." If the driver slows down a poor snow removal job results.

The conventional type truck-plow now in use has poor maneuverability. There is too much "side thrust for a change of widening or direction," and "many times when plowing on rutted roads, in moderate snow, a truck is 'ditched' when trying to negotiate a curve."

Other disadvantages of present design include: The over all length of the truck and plow is too great, ranging up to 27 feet; the radiator of the truck clogs with snow and ice because it is out in front; the cabs need better ventilation as protection against carbon monoxide fumes; and the exhaust is located so that it hinders sight and warms the windshield so that snow adheres to it.

Karas also cited certain maintenance disadvantages in the present types of heavy trucks, and suggested changes which would facilitate repairs and cut down the time a truck is in the garage for repair work.

Suggests Changes
Under the heading of suggested changes, Karas points out that vision is of "prime importance" at all times. He advises that the cab should be placed forward in the plow, should be snowtight, and have a ventilator which will not drip water from melting snow.

General material hauling with such heavy trucks is not economical and the dump box should be eliminated, he adds. The engine, and its radiator and exhaust should be moved to the rear of the truck. The amount of "engine room" should be ample for the engine, plow and truck accessories. Increased fuel tanks, rather than "sand dead load" should be carried to give additional traction load on the rear wheels.

Other suggestions for the safety and convenience of the operator, and for the greater operating efficiency of the equipment were made by Karas.

"It is realized that a truck of the above suggested type would come under the classification of a specialized piece of equipment," Karas wrote. "However, to localities in the snow belts it is a necessary item, demanded by an ever-increasing, year-round traveling public."

"The public demands service and is willing to pay a fair price for it. The highway commissions are striving to give them the best that is available, but in order to increase service and efficiency, many times we find we are working with obsolete tools."

SUGGESTED DESIGN CHANGES—An efficient heavy-duty, snow removal truck should be designed similar to the above drawing made by Engineer Karas, he believes. Essentially it features a snow-tight cab up front, and the engine in the rear. The cab would be snow-tight, heated, ventilated, equipped with hydraulically controlled seats, and designed and equipped to give maximum vision during adverse operating conditions. The drawing shows the suggested position of the wing plow mounting closer to the cab, saving several feet in length of the vehicle and aiding maneuverability.

MILK SHORTAGE TO BE REMEDIED

Resort Owners Asked To Inform Bureau, Survey Made

Marquette—Communities which have experienced milk shortages during the tourist season are advised by the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau to notify the Bureau of Dairying, Michigan Department of Agriculture.

F. M. Skiver, chief of the Bureau of Dairying, reports that a survey is being made by the agriculture department in an effort to estimate the probable requirements of different resort areas during the coming season.

"Arrangements already have been made for additional supplies for some areas and every effort will be made to make additional supplies available wherever necessary," he writes the Development Bureau.

Skiver is conferring with all tourist and resort associations in the state for information concerning the availability of adequate supplies of pasteurized milk for all resort and camping areas during the next several months.

"May we urge any members of your organization to advise the writer immediately of any anticipated shortages and that you call our attention to any complaints regarding the quality of dairy products distributed at any time," Skiver's letter says.

Michigan Ahead In Resort Construction

Marquette—On his recent trip to Vermont, where he spoke on the outlook for the tourist industry to that state's planning and development officials, George E. Bishop, secretary-manager of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, saw construction of tourist and resort facilities all along the way.

But nowhere, he reports, could the construction of up-to-date facilities for the housing, feeding and entertainment of visitors rival the erection of such accommodations in Michigan.

"In the Upper Peninsula and in the northern part of Lower Peninsula, particularly, such construction was evident," he said. "From the main highway alone between Marquette and the Straits of Mackinac, we observed four new resorts being built."

"We know there are many more going up in other parts of the peninsula."

During his trip, Bishop, accompanied by Mrs. Bishop and Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Walker, of Marquette, travelled through Canada and such states as New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, and Ohio.

Red Seizure Protested

PRESIDENT TRUMAN has added his voice to that of Senator Vandenberg in branding the Communist seizure of Hungary as an outrage, indicating that the United States will file a formal protest against the brazen betrayal of pledges that Hungary would be permitted to select a government of the people's choice.

The formal protest, of course, will be rejected by the Soviet-controlled Hungarian government, just as protests directed against Russian intervention in the affairs of other European nations have been rejected.

The next step then will be to place the matter before the United Nations, but one would have to be more than an optimist to see any material hope of bouncing out the Communist government through the process of negotiation.

Russia gives lip service only to the United Nations or, for that matter, to any agreement into which it has entered with other nations. The Russians are pursuing an independent policy of expansion and when that policy conflicts with their international pledges, they merely disregard the pledges. To our regret, we are learning with every passing day that a Communist agreement isn't worth the paper on which it is printed.

Clear Conscience

THE wholehearted manner in which the United States has been willing to go to the aid of hungry peoples all over the world is reflected by the fact that on July 1, the American wheat reserves will be only 75,000,000 bushels. July 1 is the beginning of the marketing year for the new grain crop and the 75,000,000 bushel carry-over is the lowest year end supply in this country in more than 30 years. This, in spite of the fact that the American grain crop last year was the largest in the nation's history.

In contrast Argentina, another leading wheat producer of the world, still has large supplies of grain that could be used to help feed the hungry people of the world but Argentina has been offering a myriad of excuses why she is unable to provide more grain for the world. At the same time that Argentina offers these excuses, she is dicker with foreign powers for a preposterously high price.

A nation that seeks exorbitant profits at the expense of human misery can hardly hope to gain the respect of the world. At least we in America, saddened as we are at the famine conditions abroad, have moral satisfaction in the knowledge that our consciences are clear, even if our wheat bins are all but empty.

Traffic Problem

THE installation of the traffic control signals at the intersection of Tenth and Ludington streets has brought forth a new traffic problem that reached the attention of the city council Thursday night. It is the problem of pedestrian traffic at the crosswalks.

For years pedestrians making east-west crossings on Ludington street at the Tenth street intersection were not required to watch cars approaching on Tenth street because such cars were required to stop at the arterial, behind the crosswalks, before entering Ludington. With the installation of the traffic lights, however, traffic is controlled by the red, amber and green lights and cars approaching on Tenth street no longer are required to stop at the intersection if they have the green light.

The result is that pedestrians no longer can make the east-west crossings without regard for approaching traffic. Such crossings, as well as the north-south crossings, can be made safely only by observance of the traffic signals. A similar situation will develop when the new traffic lights at the intersection of Ludington and 14th streets are placed into operation.

Human nature being what it is, it may be difficult for pedestrians to get used to the new signals at these intersections but failure to observe the red and green lights, which are for both pedestrians and motorists, inevitably would result in the very thing that the traffic lights are supposed to prevent—serious accidents.

U. S. Frees Prisoners

THE few remaining prisoners of war held by the United States Army's European command will be discharged by the end of this month.

Although it is to be regretted that it required more than two years to release all of the war prisoners held by the American army, the American record is still bright when compared with other Allied nations. The United States will be the first major Allied power to turn all of its European war prisoners loose. Others, including Britain, France and Russia, still retain thousands of war prisoners under slave labor conditions. The worst offender is Russia, which apparently intends to keep hundreds of thousands of war prisoners on a permanent slave labor basis. Russia, in fact, will not reveal information concerning the number of war prisoners that are being held nor any information concerning where those men are located. That they are being held in slavery no one can doubt.

Close the Door

HENRY WALLACE has spurned President Truman and has indicated that he will not support Truman for reelection because the president refuses to go along with Wallace's views on world affairs.

In fact, Wallace has hinted that if he cannot sway the Democratic party to his way of thinking, he may even leave the Democratic party.

Although Wallace indicated that he does not intend to support a Republican candidate for president, he left the gate ajar by a tacit endorsement of Harold Stassen, an announced candidate for the Republican nomination.

Now it is up to the Republicans to close the gate, and pronto, or Mr. Wallace may still sneak in. The Republicans will want to make certain that Mr. Wallace doesn't get in a position to mess up their house.

Other Editorial Comments

HIAWATHA CONSCIOUS (Sault Ste. Marie News)

The contribution of former Gov. Chase S. Osborn to this north country in his volume "Schoolcraft-Longfellow-Hiawatha" may be much greater than at first realized.

It has made the north country Hiawatha-conscious and this Hiawatha-consciousness is proving a major asset in attracting visitors north of the Straits.

As a matter of fact Hiawatha has been attracting people who want to make the north country their home, where they can bring up their children, and where the influence of the legendary Hiawatha would be strong upon them.

Until Gov. Osborn compiled his classic, it was difficult to obtain even the "Song of Hiawatha" in northern Michigan book stores. Lucille H. Noon of Escanaba after reading about the "Song of Hiawatha" in the Escanaba Press a column dealing with Gov. Osborn's advice to the Hiawatha Pageant committee recalls that at the time she was hunting for a home in the Northern Peninsula, wherever she went she heard about Hiawatha. But when she attempted to buy the "Song of Hiawatha" as appropriate for a growing boy, she could not find one anywhere.

"I do not recall having seen many in any store where books are sold during the eight years we have lived in the Northern Peninsula. Why doesn't some enterprising bookseller lay in a supply of colorful Hiawatha books so the growing generation will be on familiar terms with this beautiful story?" she asks.

Books on Hiawatha should be stocked and pushed in every book store in the Northern Peninsula.

PARKING METERS (Marquette Mining Journal)

There appears to be some opposition to proposed installation of parking meters in Ishpeming, based chiefly on contention there is no parking problem in that city which strict enforcement of existing regulations will not solve. The Ishpeming council, however, may decide to put in meters for a trial period and if that is done it is not unlikely the meters will stay, unless Ishpeming's experience with them differs from that in other cities.

Sault Ste. Marie, Iron Mountain and Marquette are U. P. examples of cities in which meters have done much to improve traffic control and, at the same time, produce revenue which will help pay for trucks, plows, graders, sanding equipment and maintenance of parking areas, all of which are factors in providing adequate service to the motoring public. The Soo has had meters since 1941 and up to the end of 1946 its revenue from them amounted to $47,000, of which $37,000 was profit. Since the war the Soo's profits from meters has averaged $10,000 a year. Marquette has had meters about a year. They have materially improved traffic regulation in the business districts and revenue will total at least as much as in the Soo.

Traffic conditions and problems in Ishpeming cannot be much different than those in other U. P. cities. There probably is room for improvement and there is substantial opinion meters would help.

Take My Word For It

Frank Colby

AGAIN "EASTER" (Scrapbook Item)

Emporia: In your recent article on the origin of the word Easter you state: "Easter is mentioned nowhere in the Bible, nor in the writings of the apostolic Fathers." Colby, you're wrong! You'll find "Easter" in Acts 12:4. I am wondering how you are going to wiggle out of this one.—H. H. S.

Answer: Acts 12:4: "And when he (Herod) had apprehended him (Peter), he put him in prison, and delivered him to four quarters of soldiers, to keep him, intending after Easter to bring him forth to the people."

Now for some "wiggle" (and thanks to the hundreds of Bible students who have written to me):

The error was not mine; though I accept, of course, the responsibility for its having appeared in my column. My statement was based on the article on Easter in the fourteenth edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica: "There is no indication of observance of the Easter festival in the New Testament, or in the writings of the apostolic Fathers."

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington—The desperate need of this country today is for decent homes for millions who cannot find a place to live and for other millions who are living in miserable slums. While it does not often find expression in the headlines, the signs of this need are seen in a thousand different ways.

It is, above all, in the pressure of people crowded into quarters pathetically inadequate. The rise in juvenile delinquency is one sign. So is the rise in the divorce rate.

Now we see congress destroying the last safe-guard that gave some protection to the most defenseless. The so-called rent control extension bill, with its 15 percent increase, will work great injustice on millions of people. It throws out the remaining restrictions intended to channel materials into houses which families with small incomes could buy.

—BOTH FAVOR FEDERAL AID—
What makes this harder to understand is that both the Democratic President and the leader of the Republican majority in Congress are for government aid to housing. Both Mr. Truman and Sen. Robert A. Taft have earnestly advocated steps that would help to break the housing deadlock.

In the current issue of the Republican, Taft has an article with the title "we must have decent homes." As the principal sponsor of the Taft-Ellender-Wagner Housing bill, he presents a forceful, effective plea for his own moderate proposal. He recites the now familiar facts and figures on the bottom one-fourth or one-fifth of our people who live in homes that "do not meet a low minimum standard of decency."

"We must," says Sen. Taft, "improve or get rid of 6,000,000 sub-standard dwellings and at the same time provide decent shelter for the 6,000,000 families who have occupied them."

"The problem must be attacked from every angle. I believe we cannot pour in all the assistance from the top, which is all private industry can do, or be expected to do. I think we must attack it from the bottom."

Yet in spite of this urging from so important a Republican, it is almost certain congress will turn down the Taft-Ellender-Wagner proposal to subsidize low-cost housing by $100,000,000 to $200,000,000 a year. A senate committee has reported it favorably by a 7 to 6 vote. The senate may even adopt it by a narrow margin. Then it will die without a chance of a vote in the house. That was the history of this same measure in the previous congress.

Why should this be so? Can't Sen. Taft persuade the members of his own party to go along on such a moderate proposal? Is it that Sen. Taft doesn't really want a housing bill and is merely talking for political effect?

—TAFT IS SINCERE—
The answer to the last question is definitely no. Taft has given every evidence of his sincerity in backing the house measure. He was shocked and a little hurt when the house last year firmly shut the door in his face.

Consider, now, Mr. Truman's position. He has asked for a unified national housing agency which would help pull together some of the loose ends of past housing efforts. His housing expediter, Frank R. Czedon, has pleaded for retention of the controls that remain. But the Truman administration, it must not be forgotten, started the retreat away from controls — and with a bang. That was when the wartime building control, order 4-L, was thrown out shortly after V-J Day.

Congress shows not the slightest intention of heeding Mr. Truman. Even when he had what were at least nominal Democratic majorities, he could not get housing legislation passed. In city after city today, new construction has all but stopped.

Is the power of the real-estate and building lobbies enough to explain this? They have successfully fought all controls right down to the last gasp of the present. That is part of the answer but it is hardly a sufficient answer.

Another part of the answer is the difficulty of government under our system of divided powers. Even when the same party holds both executive and legislative branches, it takes exceptional leadership, with the gift of dramatization, to move against inertia and the resistance of organized pressure groups. When the powers are divided between the two parties, then we must expect stalemate and inaction. Neither Sen. Taft nor Mr. Truman can break the jam.

Now in fairness to the Encyclopedia Britannica I must point out that, strictly speaking, its statement is not in error, for the word "Easter" did not appear in Acts 12:4 in the original Greek of the New Testament.

The events described in Acts occurred shortly after the Ascension. At that time there was a Christian festival called "Easter." Easter then was a Teutonic celebration in honor of Easte, the pagan goddess of spring, and it is unlikely that Easter had even been heard of in the Biblical lands of apostolic days.

Therefore, states Bishop Clinton S. Quinn, of the Diocese of Texas, who has helped me with today's article, the word "Easter" in Acts 12:4 is an anachronism, i.e., an error in the order of the time.

The mistake was made by the scholars who, in 1604-11, translated the New Testament (King James Bible) into English from the original Greek. The Greek word in Acts 12:4 is Pascha, which means and should have been translated "Passover." As a matter of fact, the Revised Standard Version of the New Testament, copyrighted in 1946 by the International Council of Religious Education, corrects the error thus: "... intending after the Passover to bring him out to the people."

Now We See Through a Glass, Darkly

Good Morning!

By The Bugler

THE LATE REP. BRADLEY—The first time we met Rep. Fred Bradley was back in the late 1930's in Menominee. He had been invited to speak at the annual Menominee county Dairy Day program to be held at Shakey Lakes, and he arrived at the Menominee county airport in his private plane.

He was big and jovial. One of the first men to greet him was the late Mike Olsen, who at that time was soon to be elected Menominee mayor, and who had been a friend of Bradley for many years. The two men were alike in many ways—particularly in their ability to win people to their side as admirers and voters.

The congressman of the 11th was genuinely happy in meeting and greeting Menominee county folks. At the Dairy Day picnic, where he was the principal speaker, he talked to the farm people of the county in language they could understand. There was nothing inspirational about his talk. It was rather a practical report on what he was doing in Washington for the folks back home. They liked it.

—NEVER LOST TOUCH—Rep. Bradley has been described as one of the most hard-working men in congress. His political enemies criticized his voting record before the war, but none of them has ever said that Bradley ignored his constituents, its interests, and its people.

During the war, and after the war when the Republicans were voted into control of congress and Bradley became chairman of the important merchant marine and fisheries committee, the people of the 11th district saw less of their congressman in his home district. His visits were necessarily less frequent. He was busier in Washington than he had ever been before. Yet he never lost touch with the people back home.

—THE FOLLOW THROUGH—In the mail the other day from Traunik came a letter from Mrs. Sam Paquette, who describes the late Rep. Bradley's ability to do things for his constituents. Mrs. Paquette writes:

"In the Press after Fred Bradley's death were many things said of his great work and friendship. We here know personally of some of his good deeds."

"When we came to settle on this road a mail route was something people talked about and thought how fortunate people were that lived on one. I was raised where we had such service as far back as I can remember, so I talked of trying to have one established and said I'd take it up with Fred Bradley. It was told, 'Why, Fred Bradley, what does he care about us people here in this part of the country? Why, he doesn't even know there is such a place as Traunik.'"

"I still thought Fred Bradley would do this favor for us, so I wrote and stated our hopes for a mail route. Within two months we could hardly believe it ourselves—but we had mail service."

"When Mr. Bradley would write on the progress of the mail route project, he would use air mail, so he sure was interested in doing things for people regardless of where they lived. His kindness should long be remembered."

Mrs. Sam Paquette Traunik, Mich.

INTO THE PAST

Ten Years Ago

Munising, Mich.—Striking lumberjacks voted this afternoon to return to work, repudiating two of their leaders who were jailed today on charges of conspiracy to incite a riot.

Great Britain's diplomats strove yesterday to salvage the international agreement for neutrality in the Spanish civil war, but prospects for immediate success appeared dim.

In a continued effort to clean up all forms of improper driving, Chief of Police M. F. Ettenhofer announced yesterday that several plain clothes men at various strategic points will check on violations and report to the department.

E. A. Wenner, county agricultural agent, has started organizing all summer clubs of 4-H boys and girls throughout Delta county.

Twenty Years Ago

Lansing—The condition of the state's finances was made clear today by Gov. Fred W. Green when he announced after signing the last of the appropriation bills left him by the 1927 legislature that the state tax would probably exceed $26,000,000.

Tirana, Albania—The Albanian government has sent a communication to the secretariat of the league of nations presenting the Albanian side of the controversy over the arrest of an employee of the Jugo Slav legation which has led to the breaking of diplomatic relations between Albania and Jugo Slavia.

That there is a rapidly growing danger of another tremendous world war, in which the Oriental nations of the world will be aligned against the Occidental nations, was the statement made yesterday in the course of a highly interesting address before the Escanaba Rotary club, by Brother Benedict, a Catholic missionary who has recently come to this country after spending nine years in China.

MAN OF THE LAKES—Fred Bradley had a deep and abiding interest in the Great Lakes shipping industry. Part of this was inherited, part of it came through his association with his own shipping company, and a great part of it was a natural inclination. Few men can spend their boyhood and live most of their life in a port town like Rogers City not to become imbued with a love of the lakes. Once launched on a political career he inevitably gravitated into merchant marine and fisheries committee work in congress. It would have been surprising if he had not.

In a press release prepared shortly before his death, Bradley said of the Coast Guard icebreaker Mackinac: "Our Ship" is exactly what I whisper to myself every time that my eyes view that pride of the Coast Guard on the Great Lakes. I wonder how many of our district's citizenry truly appreciate what the world's mightiest icebreaker means to us in the Northland."

And again: "I keep a scrapbook on the Mackinac because somehow I feel more or less paternalistic about her, if one can be pardoned for using that term in connection with a vessel. Having sponsored the legislation which made possible her construction I like to closely follow her work in our midst and the efforts of her splendid officers and crew."

WASHINGTON ROUND—A more active outdoor work, free of the many details and the demanding round of Washington obligations might have prolonged the life of Fred Bradley. Undoubtedly

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington—Various Democrats have accused Harry Truman of deserting Franklin Roosevelt, but the nearest real break came two days ago when the entire Truman administration almost walked out on the grand old lady of the Democratic party, Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt.

Despite the fact that Mrs. Roosevelt was the honored speaker at the Jefferson Day dinner in Los Angeles, and despite the fact that the dinner was being arranged by James Roosevelt, eldest son of the late president, the White House for a time ordered a complete boycott.

Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, scheduled to speak alongside Mrs. Roosevelt, canceled. And Democratic Executive Director Gael Sullivan was ordered to cancel. In the end, Sullivan persuaded President Truman to reverse the boycott at least to the extent of letting him speak alongside Mrs. Roosevelt. Ungallant Secretary and Treasury Snyder, however, never did get off his high horse. He remained in a huff in Washington counting his tax-money.

Basic reason for the hushed-up dinner-party fracas was Henry Wallace and the Truman doctrine.

When Wallace spoke in Los Angeles recently, the local Democratic committee, under pressure from ex-Attorney General Bob Kenny, county chairman Rollin McNitt, and Jimmy Roosevelt, finally voted to welcome Wallace.

Wallace, attracting the largest Democratic political crowd since the days of FDR, assailed the Truman doctrine, was roundly cheered by local Democrats. When word of the Wallace triumph filtered back to Washington, Secretary Snyder rushed over to the White House, told Truman he was going to pull out of the Los Angeles Jefferson Day dinner. Snyder, long one of the closest men to Truman, also sold him on the idea of "disciplining" Los Angeles Democrats.

Accordingly, Truman went to the extreme length of ordering Executive Director Gael Sullivan to withdraw from the party campaign dinner, leaving Mrs. Roosevelt sitting high-and-dry on the Los Angeles platform all by herself.

Informed of this simultaneously, Sullivan, an adroit hand at healing party breaches, warned the White House that in a democracy, there must be room for people with all sorts of opinions. A purge, he warned, was bad business. Truman was readily convinced, but not Mr. Snyder. He wouldn't budge.

—MERRY-GO-ROUND—

Democratic anti-Wallacites recently started rumors that Wallace was "anti-Catholic" because he opposed war with Russia. When these rumors got back to Henry, he replied, "I campaigned for Al Smith when Harry Truman was supposed to have been a member of the Ku Klux Klan." ... Men's clothing is slated for another 5 per cent price jump in the fall because of higher textile prices. ... J. J. Shouse, former Democratic National Committee Chairman, sometimes described as having "the finest 1923 mind in Washington," has now become one of President Truman's unofficial advisers. Shouse never could get near the White House in Roosevelt's day. ... Harold Stassen has turned down more than 4,000 speaking invitations in the last two months. But he's filling a thousand—about twice as many as any other politico could handle. ... Assistant Secretary of State Bill Benton has set at least one diplomatic record. He has only attended four diplomatic dinners and three cocktail parties during two years in Washington. ... Steel industry officials say they've shipped more barbed wire to Brazil this year than they did to Europe during the war.

—THE BILBOS OF MICHIGAN—

Two senators from Michigan are employing unusual tactics in blocking Democratic procedure and the course of good government. They are Arthur Vandenberg and Homer Ferguson, both Republicans, who for five long months have been sitting on two important appointments, refusing to let the senate take a vote on confirmation.

Senator Ferguson, chairman of a judiciary subcommittee, has been blocking a vote on Philip Perlman of Baltimore as Solicitor General of the United States. And Senator Vandenberg, chairman of the Foreign Relations committee, has been blocking a vote on Francis Biddle as U. S. delegate to the United Nations Social and Economic committee.

Both Michiganians have been sitting on these appointments since January. January to June is a long time to hold up important appointments. It so happens that the solicitor general's is the 2nd top legal post in the U. S. government. His job is to argue all cases before the supreme court. However, despite an extremely busy court calendar, Senator Ferguson did not even hold hearings on Perlman until May 14. In other words he waited from January until May without even giving the friends or enemies of Perlman a chance to be heard. No government can operate efficiently under such delay.

Senator Vandenberg was equally slow. Though Francis Biddle is a former member of the cabinet, served as U. S. judge to try the Nazi war criminals at Nuremberg, and is a former judge on the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, Vandenberg simply sat on his nomination. Finally, in May, he held one brief hearing, but since then has not permitted either the full senate foreign relations committee or the senate itself to vote on Biddle.

Q. Did the amount of individual savings drop very much in 1946?

A. Yes. They dropped from 33 billion dollars in 1945 to 19 billion dollars in 1946. This is attributable to increases in prices, the availability of increased quantities of consumer goods, and the disappearance of war time savings pressures.

Q. Did Milton Reynolds better Howard Hughes global flight record by many hours?

A. By 12 hours and 18½ minutes. Reynolds, in the Bombshell, made the round the world flight in 78 hours and 55½ minutes.

Q. I am a veteran of this war and am interested in obtaining a guaranty loan to enter a business. Who decides whether the cost price of the business is reasonable?

A. The Veterans Administration. The lender may decide first, but the Veterans Administration will send appraisers to check on the business.

Q. Are most of the people of Mexico of pure Spanish descent?

A. No. Fifty-five per cent are of mestizo stock (mixed Spanish and Indian); 29 per cent, Indian; 15 per cent white (largely of Spanish descent); others 1 per cent.

Q. Did the Fraticelli follow a different line from other Francisicans?

A. The Fraticelli, a branch of the Italian Franciscan order, was organized by Father Maurato and Father de Foscombroni, who lived as hermits. They claimed that the Church of Rome was the "Babylon" spoken of in the Book of Revelation; that the rule of St. Francis was the rule observed and enjoined by Christ; that the sacraments were not useful; that the perfection of the Christian regime is absolute poverty. Thus a schism developed which reduced the temporal authority of the papacy and helped greatly to pave the way to the Reformation.

Q. Which trees are the main source of supply for flooring?

A. The harder softwood species as Douglas fir, western larch and southern yellow pine. Of the hardwoods, maple and oak are the most used for flooring.

Lloyd Walker, Widely Known Educator, Taken By Death

Lloyd Isaac Walker, 73, owner and proprietor of the Cloverland Commercial college in Escanaba, and an influential figure in Michigan education for many years, died Thursday night at Bellin Memorial hospital in Green Bay. He had been ill since the first of the year.

A man of high principles, unswerving in his loyalty to his ideals, Mr. Walker's character and the character of his school are best described in the motto, which he wrote in chalk on the blackboard when he purchased the college in 1921, and which has never been erased: "He who does his best, does well."

Born in Oxford, Oakland county, Mich., September 1, 1873, Mr. Walker devoted practically all of his life to education. He was a graduate of Ferris Institute at Big Rapids, and of the Michigan State Normal college in Ypsilanti, and he received his A. B. and M. A. degrees from the University of Michigan. He taught in Huron county and served as principal of schools at St. Ignace, among other teaching assignments, and he was a member of the faculty of Michigan State Normal college at Ypsilanti for ten years.

He purchased Cloverland Commercial college in 1921, from E. W. Doaks, and under his guidance and that of Mrs. Walker, who worked side by side with him, the school developed into one of the leading business colleges of the state. It was often said, and truly, that no pupil of Mr. Walker's received his diploma until he was fully trained, and his graduates were in demand by business houses everywhere.

He was an active member of Calvary Baptist church and also was affiliated with the Kiwanis club and with Delta Lodge, No. 195, F. & A. M.

New Highway Maps Greatly Improved

Marquette—One of the outstanding features of the 1947 official highway maps of Michigan, recently published by the state highway department is the locating of communities and roads along Michigan's border, Upper Peninsula Development Bureau officials and members say.

The 1947 map shows considerable improvement over previous issues. Bureau members have written George E. Bishop, secretary-manager, "but undoubtedly the No. 1 added feature is showing border towns and cities in Canada and the states of Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, and Ohio. Since all tourists to Michigan must travel through such cities, these maps will be of considerable use even after such visitors leave the state."

Besides showing towns and roads, lakes and streams, the maps list location, features and conveniences of state parks, recreation areas, historic sites, fish hatcheries, trout rearing stations, national and state forests, game project areas, and the location of state police posts. Indices are provided for counties and county seats, cities and villages, together with the population of each. Schedules for year-round operation of ferries at the Straits of Mackinac are provided.

Small-scale maps of Detroit and principal cities in Lower Michigan showing the main streets, are included in the maps.

BANKS OFFER THRIFT PLAN

Bond-A-Month Program Of Savings Will Start Here

Part of America's thrift program, thousands of banks during June and July will offer to depositors as a public service a "bond-a-month" plan for the regular purchase of U. S. savings bonds. Officials of the Escanaba banks said the treasury's third peace-time campaign to promote sale of bonds would, during June and July, be aimed at increased participation in the payroll savings plan by wage and salary earners.

Since November, when it reached its postwar low, savings participation has increased.

"With prices of consumer goods high, the times call for careful spending and persistent saving."

"By the plan, 10,000,000 bank depositors, each able to buy a bond a month, may be added to regular buyers. Secret of a successful personal savings program is regularity—as payroll savers have discovered since 1941."

"Until now, persons to whom the payroll plan was not available had to buy each bond separately. Now, banks—including the three in this area—will buy a bond or bonds each month for the depositor, debiting his checking account with the purchase price and mailing or delivering the bonds to owners."

"The automatic plan will be a boon especially to business men, farmers, professional and other self-employed persons without social security protection or pension for old age. Like the payroll saving plan, it will be used to create a fund to buy homes, farms, equipment for better living, education of children and for emergencies."

"Small business men and firms will use it to build up reserves against a day of need. Regular bond investment pays off in a dozen ways."

Owner Of Baby's Tavern To Retire

Marinette, Wis.—Arthur (Baby) Hertwig, well known operator of the tavern known as Baby's Corners, two and a half miles south of Peshtigo on highway US-41, has quit the tavern business. And that's retiring in a "big" way.

Fifty-four-year-old Art Hertwig has operated the tavern since his father died September 3, 1917. The place of business had been in the Hertwig family for almost 50 years.

If you went to Baby's Corners for a today, chances were that you would be the target for some practical jokes—if you were a new-comer to the place. Not long after his father died "Baby" Hertwig, whose father before him bore the same nickname, started installing the fixtures and appliances that provided the practical jokes for which the tavern has been long known.

"The jokes were installed," Hertwig said, "purely for fun and there never was the intention of causing injury to anyone. If you have something the other fellow doesn't have, people will come to your place."

Hertwig, who totes around almost 400 pounds on his own estimate had people from all over the country stopping off for "a beaker of sud" and a chance to see the practical joke machinery in operation. "Baby" was always open to suggestions by which he could improve on his system of providing laughs for his patrons. He always wants people around who have a sense of humor and that was one of the reasons the practical joking shenanigans kept growing and growing while Hertwig operated the tavern.

"Baby" is a native of Menominee where he was born on April 20, 1893, and was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Hertwig. His mother died in 1930. The elder Hertwig, as many can remember was a large man weighing well over 300 pounds.

As for "Baby's" weight at present, he says he hasn't weighed himself in years because he's "afraid to get on a scale." Although in robust health, Hertwig has not been overly active in the past few years, working in the tavern only a few hours each day. He resides with his sister, Elva, in a home constructed near the tavern but the dwelling was destroyed by fire in 1923.

The Disc Jockey Bonanza

Let us consider for a moment the disc jockey, a man who announces the name of the next record. One of the original disc jockeys was Martin Block, who has been earning a reputed $400,000 a year at this task, which seems like quite a lot considering the duties involved. Last week, Mr. Block announced he would soon start a new hour program over the Mutual Broadcasting System which should boost his earnings to around $1,000,000 a year.

Paul Whiteman, who has been leading bands almost as long as the white man has been in this country, will turn disc jockey on a full hour afternoon show (3:30 p. m. EDT) over the American Broadcasting Company on June 30. This five-a-week show has been sold to four sponsors and the take (if Mr. Whiteman hangs on to all his sponsors for a full year which is not altogether certain) will amount to $5,200,000.

Another somewhat different deal has been arranged between Tommy Dorsey, a trombone player who also speaks English, and Louis Cowan, Inc., an organization which peddles transcribed shows to independent stations. Mr. Dorsey will do transcribed song introductions in which he will relate a little anecdote about, say, Artie Shaw, ending with the words: "And here is Artie, his clarinet and 'Begin the Beguine'". The independent stations will have to scrape up their own recording of "Begin the Beguine." For about $100 a day, the station gets only the introduction to the record, not the record itself.

The Dorsey show, a full hour program, will also feature an interview with—oh, let's say Frank Sinatra—and this too will end up with a song cue. The sponsors guarantee Mr. Dorsey $1,500,000 in five years and estimate his yearly earnings may amount as high as $1,000,000 a year.

Incidentally, these outside figures must be regarded with some suspicion. Last fall, Ted Husing was launched on his disc jockey show on WHN, freely predicting that he would earn $250,000 a year. This was unwarranted optimism. Mr. Husing, indications are, will earn much less than that, although, of course, he won't starve.

Beyond the ability to read the label on a record, the qualifications for the disc jockey profession are not apparent to the naked eye. A nice voice and a fund of anecdotes are of some assistance to disc jockeys but they aren't altogether necessary. Many explanations for the success of Martin Block have been put forth but easily the most convincing is the fact that he doesn't talk much. By all the rules of logic, this would indicate that a disc jockey could be even more popular if he just changed the records and didn't talk at all. But radio listeners don't operate by any rules of logic. They want a personality and they want the same personality. When enough people acquire the habit of listening to the same personality, the income rises to a point way out of proportion to the ability involved.

The real attraction, of course, is the records. The disc jockey commands a talent pool much larger than even the largest network could afford. The drawing card is not the disc jockey's personality, no matter how fascinating, but the voices of Bing Crosby, Frank Sinatra, Dinah Shore and Perry Como, the orchestras of Benny Goodman, Andre Kostelanetz, or whoever. These are the names that draw the listeners but it is the disc jockey (and the station) that makes the money. This, you might think, would cause rumbles of discontent from the talent but it hasn't, at least up to now it hasn't. Disc jockeys stimulate record sales to a remarkable degree and the talent feels that record royalties are compensation enough.

AUTOS TO USE LESS GASOLINE

Features Of New Motor
Are Described By Kettering

French Lick, Ind. (SS) — One-third less gasoline is used by a new automobile engine than in present types, it was revealed here to the Society of Automotive Engineers by Charles F. Kettering, research chief of General Motors. Its installation in cars will keep step with the development of new fuels.

It is a high-compression engine, with cylinder pressure reaching 1,200 pounds per square inch. Automobiles with the new high-compression engines, operating since last November, are giving 33% to 40% higher economy than ordinary automobile power plants. This means that 10 gallons of gasoline in the new engine will take a car as far as 13 or 14 does in the present type.

But these high-compression engines and fuel developments are in the laboratory stage, he said. How soon they can be incorporated into the automobile will depend upon a large amount of development by both the automobile and the petroleum industries working together toward a common goal. Doubling the compression ratio at one jump cannot be made at once for various reasons. There are 30,000,000 vehicles on the road today which do not require high octane gasoline and must be kept running until they wear out.

The change-over from present engines to very high compression engines can be taken only in steps. As the petroleum industry makes an improvement in fuels the automobile industry can supply a higher compression engine to utilize them.

The new engine is designed according to rather conventional procedures, Mr. Kettering said, except that it is rigid enough to carry the higher loads imposed. It weighs no more per horsepower than present stock engines. Its compression ratio, 12.5 to one, was chosen because tests with a one-cylinder experimental engine showed that most of the gains in efficiency on this cylinder construction could be attained at this ratio.

THE SHERMAN HOTEL

VIGIL'S REWARD — For three weeks 4-year-old Linda Knight and five of her playmates kept vigil at a robin's nest they found in a holly tree in Olentangy Village, near Columbus, Ohio. The nest-holding croch was so low the children could peer into it. At first Mrs. Robin was alarmed by her daily visitors. Gradually she gained confidence in them and went about her matronly business. Soon the children found the nest held three greenish-blue eggs. Excitement ran high among the nest's six "guards." Their watch was intensified and finally was rewarded. One morning, as pictured above, Linda found the eggs cracked open and three downy baby robins in the nest. Now the youngsters have banded together to dig earthworms for Mrs. Robin, "so her children will grow big and strong."

Souvenir Program For Celebration Planned

A souvenir program for the Roleo - Homecoming - U. P. Firemen's tournament is to be prepared for distribution during the Roleo.

The program will be financed by the sale of advertisements and proceeds over and above the cost of getting out the booklet will go into the celebration fund.

Two thousand copies of the program are to be printed. The program is to include an outline of activities during the celebration, photographs and articles about the birch, a tribute to George T. Springer, a history of birch as included in the Encyclopedia Britannica, the history of Gladstone, a story on the Firemen's tournament, articles on special attractions coming to Gladstone and credit to Gladstone citizens and writers who have helped to promote roleos here.

The booklet is being prepared to help finance the celebration and to provide as a handbook on birch for future reference.

Sale of space is being conducted by the finance committee headed by Mason Meyer.

MARK OLSON IS TO BIRL HERE

Marquette Youth Won Junior Crown In 1942

Mark Olson, Marquette, who won the junior birling title here in 1942, has forwarded an entry blank indicating he is going after the big money this year for his entry in the championship round in the National Roleo to be held here July 4-6.

Olson also was Upper Peninsula junior champion in 1944 and 1945, years when no national event was held. Nineteen years old now, he is at present a student at Michigan College of Mining and Technology.

Ted Springer, son of George Springer, Minneapolis, who was junior champion in 1941, the first year Gladstone staged the national event, is having a pair of shoes made for him and plans on trying his skill on the rolling log again. Ted was laid low by rheumatic fever before the 1942 event rolled around and was unable to defend his title. The youth, who finished high school recently, will not compete in the roleo unless he finds that he has lost none of his former skill.

City Briefs

Marilyn Turk left yesterday for Newberry where she will visit with college friends. She is a resident of Black Earth, Wis., and had been visiting here at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Beecher.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Ellis returned to their home in Grand Rapids, Mich., on Thursday, following a four day visit with Mr. and Mrs. Rex Stowe and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Hammond and family, Rhineland, Wis., spent Sunday visiting at the Lowell State home.

Lt. Commander and Mrs. Richard Johnston and son, Dicky, left Friday morning for San Diego, Calif., following a 14 day leave visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Johnston, 1108 Montana avenue, city, and with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kostitzke, 943 Stevenson avenue, Escanaba. Lt. Commander Johnston, USN, has been stationed for the past year in Newport, Rhode Island, and has been transferred to San Diego.

Mrs. Oscar Sederberg was admitted to St. Francis hospital Thursday night for medical treatment.

Christine and Patty Meyer, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Mason Meyer, have returned home from L'Anse, where they visited with their grandparents for several weeks.

Mrs. George Brodine and children, Jack, Jill, Candy and Tim, are leaving Sunday morning for a month's vacation visit with her mother, Mrs. Arthur Brown, Belvidere, Mich.

Miss Naomi Strom entered St. Francis hospital yesterday afternoon and this morning will submit to an appendectomy. Miss Strom is a daughter of Atty. and Mrs. Edgar Strom, North Ninth street.

Gordon Kelley has returned to Gladstone following several months spent in the lower peninsula. Kelley submitted to a major surgical operation at St. Lawrence hospital, Lansing, nearly two months ago and since leaving the hospital has been recuperating at the home of a sister, Mrs. Helen Carter, at Elsie, Mich. On his return here he was met at Cheboygan by Mrs. Kelley. Mr. Kelley is greatly improved in condition.

DeKeyser-Murchie

A pretty wedding was solemnized May 26, at six o'clock nuptial mass at St. Charles church at Cheboygan, Mich., when Miss Betty Ann DeKeyser, R. N., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William DeKeyser, Dakota avenue, became the bride of Robert H. Murchie Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Murchie, Sr. of Rapid River.

The altar in front of which the couple exchanged their wedding vows was beautiful with its bouquets of gladioli and spring flowers.

The ceremony was performed by the Very Rev. Father Gougeon of St. Charles church.

The bride was attractively attired in a light pink wool suit with matching hat and dark accessories. Her flowers were roses and snapdragons.

Miss Irene Dombroski, R. N. was bridesmaid. She wore a grey gabardine suit with matching accessories and her flowers were carnations and snapdragons.

William Newhouse, a friend of the groom assisted as best man.

Mrs. Murchie is a graduate of Gladstone high, and St. Mary's School of Nursing at Green Bay. She served with the nursing staff at St. Luke's Clinic, at Marquette for some time but recently moved to Cheboygan where she has been with the staff at the Community Memorial hospital and will continue her duties there for a time.

Mr. Murchie is a graduate of Rapid River high school. During World War II he was with the Fourth Marines and saw action on several island invasions in the Pacific.

The young couple left on a short honeymoon of an unannounced destination. Since returning they are making their home at Cheboygan.

Celebrates Birthday

Mrs. Addie DuRoy celebrated the 79th anniversary of her birthday Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin DuRoy, 813 Minnesota avenue, with whom she resides.

She received gifts and flowers from relatives and friends. In addition to the son, Irvin, who resides in Gladstone, she has two other sons, 10 grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren.

Out-of-town guests here at the celebration were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Coolman of Marquette and Mrs. Theresa Apt of Montpelier, Ohio.

D. A. Mathison At Cubmaster Meeting

Douglas A. Mathison celebrated a Wele-ka-how or gathering of Cubmasters at Lake Geneva, Wis. It is at this gathering that the souvenir logs made by the local Cubmasters are distributed to Cubmasters of other areas. He left Gladstone Thursday and will return here late Sunday.

Girls' Ensemble Is Well Received; To Be Heard Next Week

The Gladstone high school girls' ensemble under the direction of Irving R. Johns Jr., presented their first radio broadcast Thursday evening over radio station WDBC and was so well received that the group was invited to return for a second half-hour program next Thursday evening, June 12, at 8:30 o'clock.

Marilyn Bergman, contralto, and Margaret Jean Hult, soprano, were soloists during the evening. Joanne McMillan, pianist, accompanied the ensemble and the soloists. Carol Cowen announced the numbers during the program.

A little later it recovered sufficiently to drag itself into a nearby swamp and Berg killed it with a second rifle shot.

LARGE BLACK BEAR KILLED

Was Molesting Stock At Berg Farm Near Maplewood

A huge black bear that tipped the scales at just a few pounds under 400 was shot and killed Thursday evening by Arnold Berg on the Berg farm north of Maplewood where Arnold lives with his brothers.

The animal was molesting stock on the farm just a short distance from the house at the time it was destroyed. Berg shot it through the neck as it stood on its hind paws and the bullet apparently lodged in the spine for the animal dropped in its tracks.

A little later it recovered sufficiently to drag itself into a nearby swamp and Berg killed it with a second rifle shot.

FUNERAL TODAYPioneer Resident Was Stricken At Home
In Garden City

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 this afternoon for Daniel Murphy, pioneer resident of Manistique, who died Thursday morning at Garden City, following an extended illness.

Mr. Murphy was born in Ireland on July 3, 1873, and came to this country with his parents when he was about a year old. The family settled in Pennsylvania and it was here that he grew to manhood, coming to Manistique 53 years ago.

For several years he was engaged in lumbering operations and finally settled on a farm east of the city. He was married March 1, 1898, to Miss Minnie Brassel. He was active in community affairs and at one time was Manistique township commissioner. He was also a member of the township school board.

Surviving him are four sons, Leon, Panama City, Fla.; Dan, Ypsilanti; Fred, Great Barrington, Mass.; Alfred, Garden City; nine daughters, Minnie, Garden City; Mrs. Vernon Crimmons, Mrs. O. Zimmerman, Sault Ste. Marie; Mrs. Leona Hancacer, McKeesport, Pa.; Mrs. Ada Berryman, Detroit; Mrs. Eileen Garrod, Northville; Mrs. Ella Mae Thomas, Willis; Miss Odette Murphy, Guam; Mrs. Ethel Williams, Orlando, Fla.; and nine grandchildren.

The Rev. Herbert Wilson will conduct the funeral services and burial will be in Fairview cemetery.

Off The Chest ...

BY JAY ARRELL

For the first time since goodness knows when, Manistique residents are going to be privileged to hear within the confines of the city that most thoroughly American as well as soul stirring signal, "Play ball!"

The first game on the home grounds will be played at 2:30 Sunday afternoon when the Manistique Cardinals meet the team from Gwin. What the starting lineup will be has not as yet been announced and as far as any local fan is concerned it will not matter very much. It will be thrill enough to see a Manistique team in action.

We are assured, however, the local team is one that may be backed with justifiable pride. While it is true the team has lost every game thus far, the scores have been low and victory eluded the Cardinals by one point.

But now, with the Cardinals playing on the home diamond and backed up and spurred on by home folks eager to see them win, that jinx which has dogged them from the start will no longer be with them. There will be a shift in the lineup so as to bolster one or two weak places and is expected to put the kibosh on the recent epidemic of unearned runs that cost them most of the games thus far.

The pitching staff is ample and the playing of one or two of the infield staff, particularly MacGregor and Rhoads has been of big league quality. The entire lineup is steady and reliable.

Buttons, which will serve as admission tickets to Sunday's game, are now on sale in the city and those who wish to support the team are asked to purchase them at once. Wearing them will help advertise the game. The buttons are on sale at the following places: Ekberg's Tavern, Bill DeHut's Barber Shop, Brault's Bowling Alley, West Side Drug Store and Christy's Tavern.

Although world-famous Enrico Caruso once sang for $70.36—he didn't even get the money. On a street corner in Cobourg, Ontario, he joined a little band of Salvation Army officers who did not know his identity until the tambourine was passed and filled with large contributions.

Classmates To Help
Maintain World Peace

Maintenance of world peace was emphasized as a duty for and a challenge to the young people of today by Miss Beverly Peters, valedictorian of Manistique high school, in an address at high school class day exercises Friday afternoon.

"Our frontiers have not all disappeared," Miss Peters told her classmates. "There is a great frontier open before young people of today—the keeping of the peace. Peace is not merely the absence of fighting; like war, it must be waged. Who could better wage this peace than this generation of young people who have experienced the impact of world-wide war? Harmony among people with a tolerant attitude toward each other would form the essential basis for world peace, she added.

Salutatorian Charles Lundstrom said "For some of us, perhaps a majority of us, this will be the final chapter in our formal education, and for others of us just a stepping stone to other fields of learning. . . . The thought expressed in that old saying 'You get out of anything just what you put into it' could well serve as the standard we have followed. . . . We are also proud of the part we have taken in our school activities."

It was an occasion of fond memories for 100 high school seniors who marched in cap and gown to places of honor in the school auditorium.

To each honor student was assigned a part in the program. William Eck presented the class history in which the events that had highlighted the class career in the four years were recounted.

Eleanor Nelson and Elaine St. John collaborated to present the class prophecy. Ray Norberg, in his presentation of the traditional "Green and White," spoke with feeling concerning his Alma Mater and those who had guided the class through its four years of activity.

Colleen Shampine read the class poem which she had composed for the occasion. Betty Curran and Janet Hughes proclaimed the class will, the contents of which were of a light and airy nature but which none-the-less conveyed sincere respects.

The program was interspersed with many musical numbers.

EXPECT RECORD
VOTE MONDAYHigh Registration Is Regarded Indication
Of Hot Election

With registration unusually high for school elections, and the contest being waged for two places by four unusually well qualified candidates, Monday's battle for votes for places on the board is expected to be the most hotly contested school election in years.

The four candidates are Mrs. Elwood Taylor, Elmer T. Lundstrom, Adam Heinz and Dr. George A. Shaw.

Voters residing in the city's west side will vote at the Lincoln school and those on the east side will vote in the Lakeside school. Polls will be open from 9 a. m. until 8 p. m.

Total registration of eligible voters, according to Mrs. Alice Kelly, secretary of the board of education, is 587, of which 447 are eastside voters and 140 westside voters.

Unearth Huge Oil
Supply Untouched
For Many Years

The city of Manistique this week acquired several thousand gallons of oil in a manner little short of finding it and will use it for varied purposes chief among which will be the laying of the dust on certain streets.

The oil lay in a huge 60,000-gallon tank buried near the site of the long defunct Schimkat Cutlery company back of the Herick cottages. In order to add more cottages to the cabin camp, the tank had to be removed. It was then that it was discovered the tank was almost half full of oil.

The oil is of a thick, crude type used in a tempering process in the manufacture of the scissors made by the company. While not entirely suited for application on streets, it is regarded to be an inexpensive substitute.

The company went defunct in 1922 and the oil had been in the tank untouched in all those years.

Brooklyn Dodgers Take Half Game Lead In National Loop Race

CHICAGO BOWS TO BUMS, 6-2

Pennant Chase Gets Tight As Giants Collect Win

Brooklyn, June 6 (AP)—Brooklyn took a half game lead in the tight National League race tonight by whipping the Chicago Cubs, 6-2, behind the pitching of Lefty Hatten. A big four-run second inning sewed it up for the Dodgers.

Jackie Robinson singled off Starter Hank Wyse with the bases loaded scoring two runs in the second and when Wyse, who took the throw at the plate, threw wildly trying to nip a runner at second base, the other two runs scored. A single by Johnny Jorgensen, an error by Peanuts Lowrey, Hatten's sacrifice and an intentional pass to Eddie Stanky set the stage for Robinson's blow.

Hatten scattered nine hits in registering his sixth victory and his third over the Cubs. The Dodgers had nicked Wyse for a run in the first and added another in the sixth off Reliever Bill Lee on Jorgensen's double and Stanky's third single before a crowd of 31,566 fans.

LOCAL YACHTS LAUNCHED HERE

Most Boats In Escanaba Sail And Power Fleet Ready For Season.

Escanaba's power and sail pleasure craft are rapidly being launched at Ludington Park yacht basin as the boating season opens. Most of the local yachts are in the water and the others will be ready soon.

C. W. Stoll's 65-foot schooner "Rose of Sharon" started the sailing season yesterday when she cleared the harbor bound for Fayette and Washington Island on a weekend cruise. Aboard were a group of student friends of Bill Stoll, who is home for the summer vacation period from Lawrence College, Appleton.

Other sail craft already launched at the basin are Al Starr's cutter "Apache", and Walter Hornstein's cutter "Marb". John Youngs earlier in the season sailed the "Madalan" here from Petoskey. Being ready for launching are John Mitchell's 6-meter racing sloop "Oslo", Ed Erickson's R-class racing sloop "Yankee", and Joe Shipman's cruiser "Sandra III". John Walsh, home from college, is readying his sloop "Marjac" for the season.

Expected to be launched yesterday or today was Art Fillion's power cruiser "Winsome", and already in is Al Wiles 55-foot power cruiser that he brought to Escanaba last fall.

The four sail craft of the seagull class are being prepared for the season by their owners, who are looking forward to the first gull elimination race to be held June 29 to determine the local skipper, with the regatta in Escanaba in the Green Bay championship races this summer at Fish Creek.

Seagull skippers are Lois Sawyer, Al St. Pierre, Jim Moran (who has purchased the "Suds" from Paul Menard); and Dr. Al Hallick, whose craft, the "Ye-hudi" was formerly owned by Dan Raess and Cliff Wier.

Ideal Golf Temperament Is Bobby Locke's Forte

BY FRANK ECK

AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor Boston—Bobby Locke, the South African wizard of the greens, is teaching America's top golfers a thing or two about ideal temperament in golf.

The barrel-chested 29-year-old former Liberator pilot who has pocketed $1,000 a week during his first eight weeks of an abbreviated American tour is being hailed as "the perfect gentleman of golf" by the play-for-pay brigade.

Locke, a ruddy-cheeked round-faced chap with a bit of a double chin, had several chances to get excited in the recent $10,000 Goodall Round Robin. He made four bad shots, driving his first shot in a water hole. Twice he drove out of bounds and during the third round his clubhouse hit a rock while attempting to chip from a wooded rough.

"I almost broke the club when I hit that rock," said Bobby apologetically. "It put a big nick in the clubhouse and stung my hands. The pain went right up my arm. But, mind you, I'm not making excuses. If I had a good drive I wouldn't have been in the rough in the first place."

Possibly Locke's greatest difficulty in America has been his travel connections. The day after he broke Newton Center's course record with a 65—even under par—he had trouble finding the car which was to drive him 10 miles to the course. On the way out the car got a flat tire.

"Maybe that had something to do with my game today," he said later. But he failed to show it on the course where he had a par 72.

After Locke won the Goodall against 15 top pros to boost his earnings to $8,370 for eight weeks in America, he drove to New York for his second 36-hole test in two days. He had only three hours sleep. Yet he qualified for the U. S. Open, something the USGA could have avoided by making him an automatic qualifier on the strength of 25 rounds of golf in America in 41 strokes under regulation figures.

Locke has been a pro nine years. Five and a half years in the RAF may have something to do with his steel nerves and temperament. Neil Scott, his lifelong friend who is in the rubber export business in this country, says Bobby's war service is the reason he looks forthright.

Locke, married and the father of a 4-year-old daughter, came to this country after whipping Sammy Snead, 1946 British Open champion, 14 times in 18 South African matches. He flew 9,000 miles with Snead and competed in the Masters at Augusta, Ga., without a practice round. He tied for 14th. Since then he has won four out of five tournaments, including the Carolinas, Houston Open and Philadelphia Inquirer Invitation. He tied for third in the Fort Worth, Tex., Open.

The Sports Parade

BY JIM WARD

George Grenholm, the blond maestro of Club 330 who has his finger in every recreation pie, ranging from ping pong to the 1952 Winter Olympics, reports unequivocally that Escanaba's municipal bathing beach this summer will be something at which you can point with considerable pride.

"Many new features will be added to the swimming program, and much new playground equipment, including slides and swings, will be installed at the Sand point beach to add to the summer enjoyment of everyone who patronizes the area," he said yesterday with a wave of his arm that must have made even Andy P. Olafson's relatives on Stonington peninsula sit up and take notice.

And George struck the right note again when he elaborated on his plan to conduct organized swimming classes and patrol the beach with certified life guards who know their business and aren't just strolling around making with the muscles to the accompaniment of bobbysox ohs and ahs.

"Every person should know how to swim, not only to increase his or her enjoyment of water sports, but for its practical value, particularly in this land of lakes and streams," George said, waving his left arm this time as he took in the Bark, Ford, Haymeadow and, I think, the Tacosh.

"Parents are requested to take advantage of this opportunity to enroll their youngsters in organized aquatic courses. Adults, too, can and should learn to swim. There will be classes for them, also."

Escanaba's able recreation leader emphasized that all life guards at the beach will be certified American Red Cross men, who in addition to their other duties, as they used to say in the Army, will instruct and give senior life saving certificate tests.

Joe Louis Is A Proud Papa! Another Champ

Mexico City, June 6 (AP)—The birth here of a 11½-pound boy to Mrs. Joe Louis was announced today and, in San Diego, Calif., the heavyweight boxing champion disclosed that he and his wife, divorced in 1945, were remarried a year ago.

Dr. Mario Gonzales Ulloa, head of the clinic where Mrs. Louis is a patient, said the baby was born May 26.

Mrs. Louis said, "I named the baby Joe Louis, Jr."

She said she came to Mexico City last Feb. 1, when her husband appeared here in an exhibition match against Arturo Godoy, Chilean heavyweight.

"I sent a cable to Joe telling him that the baby was born," she added, "and he replied that he would come here as soon as he could."

Louis and his wife, the former Marva Trotter, were divorced in Chicago on March 27, 1945. They have a daughter, Jacqueline, who now is four years old.

Interviewed on a golf course at San Diego, Louis confirmed an announcement of the birth and said he hoped his son would become a champion fighter.

"If he's as lucky as I am, he will be," Joe declared.

The champion corrected his wife's announcement that he was going to Mexico, saying instead that he planned to meet her in Chicago and that she would fly there as soon as she was able to travel.

They were remarried, he said, last July in a small town in Indiana near Chicago. He could not remember the name of the town. He said he had made no effort to keep the event a secret and appeared surprised that his remarriage to Mrs. Louis was unknown.

Golfer Whose Arms Do Not Match Shoots 9-Under Par

Washington, June 6 (AP)—Ed Furgol, the Pontiac, Mich., golfer whose arms don't match, sank a 20-foot putt on the 18th hole today to score an astonishing nine-under par 63 and set a new course record in the $10,000 National Capital Open Golf tournament.

It was the second time today the Princes Georges Country club course record had been shattered. Slammin' Sammy Snead earlier had shot a seven-under par 65 to snap the course record, his two-day score of 131 giving him a three-stroke lead at the tournament half-way mark. Furgol had a 75 yesterday, making his two-day score 138, seven strokes behind Snead.

But hardly had the cheering for Snead, the Hot Springs, Va., hot-shot died away, than Furgol sank his long putt, to achieve his unusual score, despite his physical difficulties.

His left arm was broken when he was 12 years old. It wasn't set properly, and the arm never grew. Furgol gets only about a two-thirds swing, but apparently that's all he needs.

Bobby Locke of Johannesburg, South Africa, played with Furgol today. Said Locke:

"I never saw as pretty a round of golf. With a bit of luck on his putts, he might have had a 60, you know."

Chicago, June 6 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox came from behind tonight to beat Washington, 5-4, for their sixth straight win of the season over the Senators.

Floyd Baker scored the winning run with two out in the last half of the ninth inning before 14,418 in Comiskey Park.

Munn Explains Why Big Nine Refused To Take In MSC

Lansing, Mich., June 5 (AP)—Clarence (Biggie) Munn, Michigan State college football coach, charged in a Kiwanis club speech today that the Big Nine had refused Michigan State membership largely because of the Spartans' scholarship system.

"They dislike our scholarships," Munn declared. "Why should we have to do like a lot of them do—hand it under the table?"

State's new football coach was scheduled to tell the Kiwanians of a recent hunting and fishing trip when he veered off into his denunciation of the Big Nine and a defense of athletic scholarships.

"If these boys get a little help through our scholarships, it's all right with me," Munn said.

"Scholarships are given for chemistry and the band, so what's wrong with athletic scholarships? They all do it one way or another. Why not do it above the table?"

The Spartan coach said that in "certain schools" it is the practice to "hand it to the players under the table and then take them into the next room and make them sign a paper to the effect that they have received anything."

Munn took sharp issue with a Big Nine spokesman who, he said, had been quoted recently as saying he was "against taking another weak sister into the conference" to replace the University of Chicago.

"I don't feel," Munn continued, "that the gentleman who said that had any knowledge of Michigan State college."

"We're going to push the issue. I don't believe we'll get anywhere by apple-polishing. They can do the asking from here on in."

BID STILL IN
East Lansing, June 5 (AP)—Michigan State college said today its application was "still in" for membership in the Western Conference despite a blast at the Big Nine delivered today by Head Football Coach Clarence (Biggie) Munn.

College officials cited the recent trip of President John A. Hannah to Chicago to confer with Big Nine officials as proof the Spartans still

JOHNNY MIZE HOMERS AGAIN

Giant Clouter Gets 15th With Sacks Loaded; Win 7-4

New York, June 6 (AP)—Home runs by Johnny Mize and Willard Marshall accounted for all of New York's runs today as the Giants downed the St. Louis Cardinals, 7-4, in 11 innings to gain their sixth straight victory over the hapless champions.

Marshall broke up the game with a three-run circuit blast in the second extra inning off Ken Burkhardt, third St. Louis pitcher.

Burkhardt, who was charged with the Cards' last setback in New York, May 1 when Mize homered with one on in the seventh, relieved Jim Hearn after the rookie right-hander walked Mize and Walker Cooper with one down in the 11th.

Earlier, Mize ruined a no-hit performance by Starter Howie Pollet by clouting his 15th round-tripper of the season with the bases loaded in the sixth inning.

Buddy Kerr began the frame with a single. Bill Ayers bunted and both runners were safe when Stan Musial's throw failed to catch Kerr at second. Bill Rigney also bunted but forced Kerr at third. Mickey Witek then singled to load the bases and after Bob Thomson forced Ayers at the plate, Mize drove Pollet's first pitch into the stands.

Battling Brownies Nose Yanks, 4 to 3

St. Louis, June 6 (AP)—The St. Louis Browns battling to get out of the American league cellar, came from behind to nose out the fast-traveling New York Yankees in a battle of extra base hits tonight, 4 to 3.

Home runs were hit by Joe DiMaggio and Bill Johnson of the Yanks and Vern Stephens of the Browns, the latter's coming with Jeff Heath on base to provide the winning margin.

Carlson's Wallops John's, 35 to 4

With R. Leonard, rightfielder, setting a sizzling pace for five, collecting five for five, Carlson's Grocers overwhelmed John's Grocers, 35-1, in an Escanaba junior baseball league game played here yesterday afternoon.

T. Schwalbach, third baseman, helped matters along with a homer with one on, one of six hits he made in seven trips to the plate.

The victors collected 30 hits in all and capitalized further on 16 John's errors. Other big men with the stick were P. Gunderman and R. Menard, three for four; D. Johnson, two for three, and K. Gunderman, three for five.

Round-Tripper Sets Up 5-2 Verdict For Braves Over Reds

Boston, June 6 (AP)—Phil Masi's two-on homer gave the Boston Braves a 5-2 win over Cincinnati Reds for Johnny Beazley tonight before a 23,854 crowd. Beazley, whose arm was treated by a New York specialist this week, kept 11 hits well scattered until the ninth.

STEPHENSON SOFTBALL

Stephenson, June 6—The mid-county softball league got off to a flying start this week with games at Stephenson and Daggett.

Sweden Anderson's Stephenson team trimmed Palestine, 12-8, and Lakes topped Daggett, thanks to W. Fister's home run with one man aboard in the last of the seventh. At Daggett, Chalk Hills beat Daggett VFW, 13-9.

GOVERNOR SIGNS UP NINE LAWS

Vaccination For Rabies Required In New Dog Licensing Statute

Lansing, June 6 (AP)—Governor Sigler today signed into law nine new measures, including one to allow the larger companies insuring for fire casualty and fidelity to handle all types of insurance except life insurance.

The measure would break down lines of demarcation separating companies handling other than life insurance and applies to those meeting a $1,000,000 capital requirement.

Other bills signed: Amend the hospital act for mentally diseased persons to permit peace officers to take into protective custody persons with homicidal or other dangerous tendencies.

Provide that application for a dog license shall be accompanied by proof the dog has been vaccinated for rabies.

Add makers of prune juice to the list of soft drink manufacturers not requiring licenses.

Authorize the searing of sturgeon through the ice during January and February in inland waters not otherwise closed to searing.

Increase the township or city treasurer's compensation for the issuance of dog licenses from the present 10 cents.

Extend the time period for billing the county of legal settlement, by the county that gives relief, from 60 to 90 days.

Provide for state insurance on state property by permitting insurance on steam boilers, properties of the health department, and properties of the liquor commission to be carried with private companies.

RUSSIA STIRS UP TROUBLES FOR BALKANS

a more cautious attitude than President Truman who yesterday declared that Hungarian coup an outrage.

British officials said they shared American anxiety over events in the Balkans, but they were deferring judgment pending a study of documents in which the Russians charged Nagy with plotting to overthrow "Hungarian democracy."

SMALL ARMIES URGED

Lake Success, June 6 (AP)—Russia said today that the world situation does not warrant maintenance of "inflated armies, navies and air forces" and insisted that the proposed United Nations global police force be small.

Delivering an hour-long policy speech to the security council, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko cautioned the great powers against maintaining such inflated forces on the pretext they were needed for use by the peace agency.

"We cannot but take into account that the aggressive bloc headed by Hitlerite Germany and militaristic Japan, have been defeated and that ex-enemy states have been placed under the control of the Allies," he said. "It follows, therefore, that there is no necessity in general that the United Nations maintain excessively numerous armed forces."

Gromyko made no mention of conditions in the Balkans and eastern Europe.

The council is now debating the report in efforts to reach agreement and start machinery for setting up the international units.

On the matter of providing contingents, where Russia insists that every one of the major powers provide exactly the same number.

Gromyko also:

1—Declared Russia could not agree to granting bases for U. N. forces because the world charter made no such provision and because acceptance "would be used by some countries for exerting political pressure on other countries, which have provided such bases."

2—Declared there was no reason for any country to have forces stationed outside its own borders.

3—Contended that any forces contributed to the U. N. should be pulled back to home ground within 90 days.

Ethiopia Has Large Supply Of Bargain Priced Food Items

Addis Ababa (AP)—An abundance of food jams the shops of unrationed Ethiopia.

Butchers display beefs, chickens, lambs, veal, hams, bacon and sausage.

Most vegetables—onions, potatoes, cabbages, stringbeans, peas, cauliflower—sell for about 10 cent a pound, while bananas, peaches and other fruits were about 14 cents a pound.

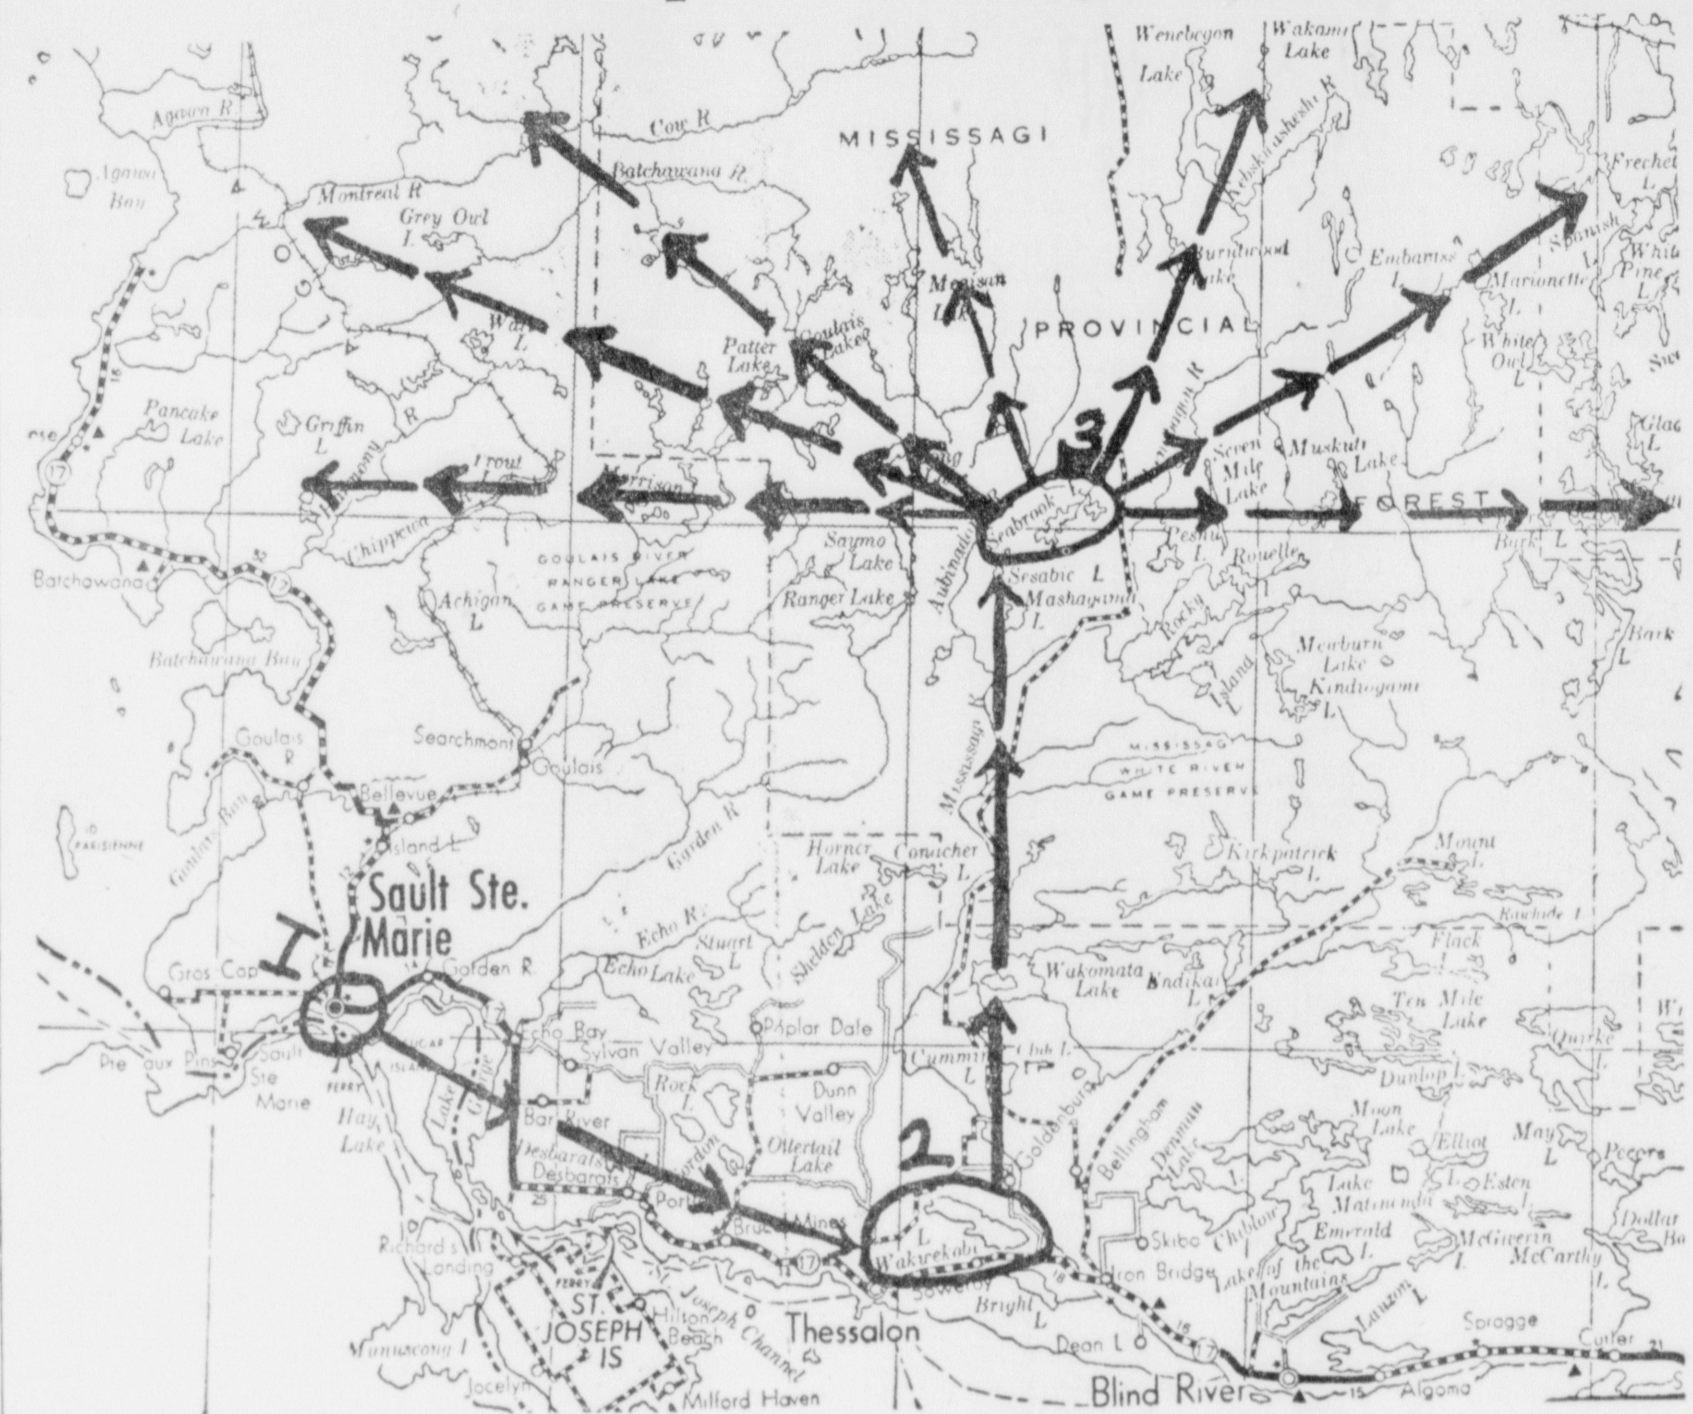

Beef is quoted at 14 cents a pound, veal at 10 cents. One butcher offered a whole young lamb for $1.60. Butter, a big export item, at 55 cents a pound.

Hogs are scarce. The demand for pork comes mostly from the foreign colony which accounts for the price of $1.40 a pound for bacon and ham.

RAILROADS MERGE

Cleveland, June 6 (AP)—Pere Marquette railway was merged into the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Co., today, creating what officials described as the seventh largest railroad in the nation in point of operating revenues.

Phil Rich, Midland Editor, Will Write For Press Readers On Airplane Fishing Trip In Ontario

AIRTRIP INTO ONTARIO is roughly outlined on the above map. Entry to Canada will be via the Soo. From there it will base at Wakewick lake (Basswood) with additional supplies at Seabrook (Long) lake. Flying to fishing and bear hunting country will be made out of there. The country and what it has in the way of facilities, lakes, fishing, hunting camps, etc., will be described in this newspaper in a series written by Phil Rich of the Midland Daily News.

By PHIL RICH

We are off today—three of us—on an airtrip to northern Ontario.

It is our hope to explore a vast wilderness region in the Laurentian mountains northeast of the Soo. By using a plane that can land on water or an airstrip, we hope to learn something of air travel, which nowadays seems to be all the rage. The ease or difficulties encountered on such a trip, its pleasure and possibilities, the fishing, hunting and picture potential will be among the subjects covered.

The region we have picked is roughly north of a line between Sault Ste. Marie and Sudbury, Ontario. It extends 100 miles or more east of Lake Superior and 150 miles north.

Some of us have visited various sections of this country by auto, trail and canoe. It is believed to be the finest speckled trout country in the North American continent. In certain sections there are also many black bears and such other big game such as moose and deer. Also lots of small game such as grouse, rabbits, etc.; fur bearers like beaver and mink and waterfowl such as ducks and geese.

Chief roads in this country run to the Montreal river, along Lake Superior; back toward Ranger lake; up the Mississippi and White river valleys. However, in between these highways and north of them there is a vast wilderness, seen by few men. Thousands of lakes dot the area, which is a paradise for canoeists.

Our first plans were to get up there May 10. These plans were knocked out by the late spring and the fact that ice was still solid in lakes in the Seabrook (Long) lake region where we expect to lay down a gasoline supply. Now we are so late that we expect to get into the fly season—and our past experience is that black flies in this part of Ontario are really something when the first hatch is out.

On this trip with me will be Al H. Weber, Cheboygan, Al is one of the most experienced outdoor men in Michigan. He founded the Cheboygan Observer and is one of the state's best known newspapermen. E. F. "Woody" Bachelder, Hastings, will supply the transportation in the form of a new Seabee. This is a four-place plane, but because of the luggage, we will do well to handle three at a time. Woody has had some 2,500 hours of flying and knows many types of planes. He is an instructor and runs the Airpark at Hastings. He wants to do a little trailblazing and see what the future holds for such trips.

Going up by air we think it can be done in about three hours as compared to eight via auto. By tonight we hope to be stocking up with provisions at Thessalon.

(Tomorrow: Airtrip poses new problems with customs. Some of the regulations you bump into with a plane. What to take along on such a trip.)

Entering Canada is fairly easy. Most of those who have done so in a car are familiar with the regulations. For those who do not know them or who go by plane for the first time a little booklet is recommended: How to Enter Canada.

Pilots will want "Flying Facts About Ontario"—a new pamphlet. Each is available through the Ontario Travel & Publicity Bureau, Parliament building, Toronto, to or most any custom office like that at the Soo or Chamber of Commerce like those at the Soo, Sarnia and other ports of entry.

Plane travel is so new that there are still some kinks to be worked out by both customs and immigration for both countries. There is not enough travel by air yet to have a smooth working system like that for automobiles. There are some restrictions. It is important to know what these are if the traveller wants to save time.

Aside from registering guns, cameras and radios, (for which there is no charge) pistols or revolvers may only be taken in "for the protection of life or property." Pistols require a special permit from the Department of National Revenue at Ottawa and a cash deposit. Also a permit must be obtained from the attorney general of the province before entry of pistols or revolvers is allowed.

One kink we ran into was interesting. Land planes can clear through the Soo municipal airport by giving advance notice of one hour. Because this plane could land on water or at the airport, we thought it would save one stop and a lot of time to alight on the St. Mary's river and clear through the regular ferry docks.

Our contact with U. S. customs said we could land on the river, clear at the slip near the ferry dock, then taxi across to the Canadian side for clearance, BUT on the return trip this process could not be reversed! There are other details like time of day, holidays, etc., but we won't go into those now. The U. S. customs man at the Soo said we could clear on the return trip at the Canadian provincial air service slip and taxi across the river to the ferry dock if we got a permit from Washington. So we did just that. The big shot down there writes us that he "has discussed with officials of the Immigration and Naturalization Service and the United States Public Health Service" our problem and we can do it. And so the tape unwound.

Then we ran into another one—this a Canadian rule: One of our Ontario friends (an official) told us we could take air pictures. Then, just to be sure, we wrote the customs at the Canadian Soo. "No air pictures" came the reply. "That is, unless we got permission from the Department of Transport at Ottawa. So we got permission. Air regulations were waived. I imagine that this is a war-leftover which has not been repealed.

I cite these two instances to show the unnecessary complications. There are many others. Air, auto or train travel between Canada and the U. S. should be as free and as easy as possible BOTH ways.

The inspectors on both sides are generally doing a good job. You'll hear some of the travellers say: "I like the Canadian inspectors the best. They're more friendly." On the other hand I've heard the same comment from Canadians about U. S. inspectors. They all have a job to do. Don't try to get away with anything and you'll get along swell. It is only occasionally that you run into some officious and obnoxious inspector. Most of them are what we'd call "good guys" trying to do a job.

One thing they do up there on an airtrip is to make you carry at least five pounds each of concentrated food, or the equivalent in other foods. They also tell you to have a cooking kit, matches in waterproof container and compass. Then they add: "Three-quarters size axe with 28-inch handle. Four ounces of snare wire." If it's a summer trip add: Mosquito bars or flyproof tent; four trawls, two lines and sinkers. One fish net.

Of course, this is emergency stuff, but they could stop you from flying into the wilderness if your fail to have it or its equivalent. Actually no outdoor man would have less. But they are thinking most of the amateur. One might have to hike his way back to civilization.

We have with us 22 and 35 calibre rifles. The 35 is in case we run onto bear. The 22 might be handy should we have to "walk home." Fishing tackle. We are experimenting some. For instance, we're trying out jungle hammocks and rubber boots. Aside from this we have along light sleeping bags and regular "bug-proof" pants—the latter fit into the top of a shoe. Shoes are eight-inch top packs with rubber bottom. Leather slippers for change or around camp. Also we need an extra shirt or change of clothes when we get so "strong it bothers us."

Cameras are always a pain in the neck. They're heavy and so is the film. But how else can we bring back the story and make it relive again. So we compromised on three movies and three still cameras.

The "grab list" is our immediate worry. Butter is scarce in Canada. Most other items can be had with the possible exception of coffee in some brands. I'll tell you later more about this angle.

Ring Bull LaMotta Hands Out Beating For Tony Janiro

BY SID FEDER

New York, June 6 (AP)—Jake LaMotta, the boxing bull from the Bronx, went on a slugging spree after a slow start tonight to whip Tony Janiro in ten rounds and exploded the rumors of a fixed fight at one and the same time at Madison Square Garden. LaMotta scaled 154½; Janiro 149½.

Outgunned and outweighed by the rugged rough slugger they call the Bronx fire hydrant, Janiro never had a chance after the first two rounds and was on the verge of a knockout from the sixth round on. But in one of the gamier exhibitions this big battle has seen in years, the youngster from Youngstown held on until four seconds from the finish, then collapsed, and was flat on his back at the finish—saved by the bell.

The count reached four—then the bell sounded ending the fight, with LaMotta an easy and one-sided winner of the unanimous decision. None of the three officials gave Janiro more than three rounds. The Associated Press score card gave LaMotta eight rounds, one to Janiro and called the even.

But from start to finish it was a free-for-all slugging match that completely laughed off the rumors that there was something "wrong" with the match—rumors, incidentally, which the bookmakers completely disregarded by installing Jake as a top-sided 5 to 17 betting favorite.

Escanaba Schools Close For Summer

Escanaba City Schools closed the 1946-47 term yesterday with completion of final examinations and closing of records.

In the next few days many of the teachers will be leaving for their homes, school and travel. A majority will return next fall.

In Escanaba the handicapped children of the special departments of junior high school are afforded an opportunity for recreation. Plans are being made to hold a summer camp under trained supervisors.

Vegetable production and consumption were both at record levels in 1946.

Beans are believed to be native to North America.

agreed-on 155 pounds.

The manager insisted he had not been threatened and that he would demand the forfeit. However, LaMotta made the weight by three quarters of a pound today and the question simply evaporated like his weight.

STATE SOLONS LEAVE DEFICIT AT 12 MILLION

The biggest hurdle was cleared when the Senate Republican caucus agreed to drop its demand for a 10 per cent reduction in all state appropriations and agreed on Sigler's compromise by which a legislative committee would work with the budget office and civil service to discover whether payrolls are too heavy.

The $51,000,000 state school aid bill, always the final night headache, was jammed in a conference committee room, with the major argument over whether it should include a "single state-wide school district" which would permit the public schools to be charged with $9,220,265 worth of general educational programs usually financed elsewhere.

The single district was a scheme to take from the public schools part of the extra money they would get under the sales tax diversion amendment.

House-Senate conferees agreed on a compromise, distribution formula to pass passage for a one-cent a gallon gasoline tax increase. The conferees proposed to give the municipalities half the money on a population basis, the county road commissions one-quarter on a mileage basis and another quarter on a population basis.

Cigaret Tax Dropped.

Senator Joseph P. Cloon, Wakefield Republican, said it would mean $1.40 per capita to the municipalities, $37 a mile and 70 cents per capita to the counties. The one-cent will bring in $12,000,000.

A three-cent a package cigarette tax was thrown into committee because the Senate objected to sending the $18,000,000 revenue to the general fund instead of earmarking it for the veterans' bonus.

The House and Senate agreed on a new boat tax, with the proviso half of a $1,000,000 revenue to the state and half to a new state waterway commission for harbor-of-refuge improvements.

The Senate took from the table and passed a bill returning all the oil and gas severance tax to the state, a $300,000 gain in revenues.

The Hittie community property bill and the Callahan bill to require registration of foreign representatives both cleared the legislature and went to the governor.

The Senate, instructed by the G. O. P. caucus, reversed itself and passed a bill placing the question of a constitutional revision on the November, 1948 ballot.

Members of the Ways and Means and taxation committees of the House were wielding the clubs to swing five votes needed to make half of the intangible tax—estimated at $3,000,000—available for the coming fiscal year.

Money Held Up

The House passed the proposal this afternoon, but twice a motion for immediate effect failed. Vote on the second motion was 62-31—five short of a two-thirds majority.

Rep. John P. Espie, chairman of the Ways and Means committee, said failure of immediate effect meant the money would not be available to the state until July, 1948.

Opposition to immediate effect centered in urban circles who opposed the recapture of half the tax, all of which currently goes to municipalities.

With some stiffening amendments, the House approved 59-31 a measure to extend the condemnation powers of public utilities. Condemnation of pipe-line and electric line rights-of-way and power house and transformer sites would be permitted. Condemnation of depleted oil fields for storage purposes would be allowed if the company acquired 90 per cent by private sale.

The bill was attacked as detrimental to the interests of "the little fellow."

The House approved compromises which set up a waterways commission and a three-cent per gallon marine fuel tax to finance a program of harbor and channel building. Boats on inland waters are exempted.

Appropriation compromises approved by the House included a measure providing $3,666,837 for conservation and recreation and $423,500 for the state building program. The latter measure includes $1,000,000 for the proposed hospital at Northville and $500,000 for the purchase of the Vickers plant outside Detroit for an armory.

Foremen Beaten Up At Ford Factory; Strike Continues

Detroit, June 6 (AP)—Two foremen were beaten at the Ford Motor company today, scene of a 17-day-old foreman's strike, as negotiations involving 150,000 production workers continued at Ford's and the Briggs Manufacturing Co.

Dearborn police identified the victims as Anthony Vella, 43 and Ford Paddock, 32, both foremen in the River Rouge Production Foundry. Both were treated for bruises and cuts.

The company said a crowd gathered when Vella engaged in an argument with two production workers, and pushed him out of the plant where he was attacked.

Vella told police, however, that he was unable to identify his assailants and would prefer to consider the matter closed.

Paddock, who was pushed about inside the plant by a dozen men, told police he could identify his attackers.

SOUVENIRS ARE MURDER CLUES

Machete, Knife Found In River At Detroit; Two Boys Hunted

Detroit, June 6 (AP)—The murky waters of the lower Rouge river today yielded a 15-inch jungle machete and an Army combat knife, two days after the slashed and beaten body of John C. Small, 52-year-old bar owner, was found in the stream.

Sheriff Edward Behrendt expressed belief the machete was responsible for a skull fracture on the body and the seven-inch smaller weapon inflicted multiple wounds in the chest and back.

The weapons were identified as war souvenirs in her home by Mrs. Josephine Kendall, mother of 16-year-old William Hungerford, who with Small's son, Edward, 17, is sought in the brutal slaying.

The search for the boys focused on Gary, Ind., tonight after Police Captain Peter Bullitt reported a coal truck had been stolen by two youths answering their description.

The search turned to Gary when keys belonging to the murdered man were discovered in a mailbox there. Small's car had earlier been found abandoned in South Bend.

SINGER SUES SPONSOR

New York, June 6 (AP)—Joan Edwards today filed in state supreme court a $75,000 damage action against the American Tobacco Co., charging it failed to live up to an agreement to continue her as star violinist on the "Your Hit Parade" radio program.

JUNIOR GETS WATER

Memphis, Tenn., June 6 (AP)—Soda fountain bystanders bristled when a woman ordered a soft drink for herself but only "water without ice" for the hot little boy with her.

But junior dampened their indignation. While the woman sipped her drink calmly, he loaded his water pistol from the glass and squirted up the place.
